Loan up to 20 lakh without collateral? Government becomes your guarantee - Big 5-year decision in Mudra and Stand-Up India

Parivahan Vishesh News

5000 crore guarantee paves way for 12.6 lakh crore loans, fee reduced from 1% to 0.75% - But 20 lakh will not be available to everyone, know full truth

Report: Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra - Janahit Desk

When a common man goes to a bank to ask for a loan to start his business, the first difficulty that comes is of guarantee. Bank asks that loan will be given, but what will you keep as mortgage in return?

To end this tension forever, the central government has taken a big decision. Government has approved to continue the Credit Guarantee Fund for Micro Units for next 5 years. That is, now you don't need to give guarantee to bank, government itself is taking your guarantee.

Union Cabinet headed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi took this decision on 11 November 2026. Now scheme will run till 31 March 2031. Also Stand-Up India scheme has also been extended till 31 March 2031.Main Facts - At a Glance

Cabinet decision: 11 November 2026, headed by PM Modi

CGFMU - Mudra Guarantee Fund: Corpus of 5,000 crore rupees

Stand-Up India Guarantee Fund: Corpus of 4,111 crore rupees

Both together: Guarantee support of more than 9,111 crore rupees

Duration: Financial year 2026-27 to 2030-31, i.e. entire cycle of 16th Finance Commission

Estimate: With this guarantee, in next 5 years up to 12.6 lakh crore rupees of new Mudra loans can be distributedGuarantee fee: Reduced from 1% annual to 0.75% annual

Record till now: From start to September 2026 more than 60.36 crore loans, total 43.34 lakh crore rupees sanctioned

Guarantee giving institution: National Credit Guarantee Trustee Company - NCGTCMudra scheme started: 8 April 2015CGFMU started: January 20161. 5000 crore will not be distributed - Clear the biggest misunderstanding Central government has taken big decision for Mudra loan. Government has approved a fund of 5000 crore rupees. Actually, this money will not be directly distributed as loan. This money will work as guarantee.

Government estimates that with its guarantee of 5000 crore rupees, in next five years banks will be able to distribute up to 12.6 lakh crore rupees of new loans to people without fear.

How does Credit Guarantee work? Suppose you want to open a new shop and you need a loan of 10 lakh rupees under Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana (PMMY).You have no land or gold to keep as mortgage. In such case National Credit Guarantee Trustee Company (NCGTC) tells bank that you give loan to this person without keeping anything mortgaged.

If tomorrow this person could not return money due to some compulsion, then we will compensate loss. Because of this guarantee of government, risk of banks ends and they easily give loan to common people.

Remember:
Guarantee is given to bank, loan is given to you. Getting guarantee does not mean loan must be approved. Bank will take decision only after seeing your income, business plan, CIBIL score and repayment capacity.2. Its 3 big benefits - Which are correct1. Loan up to 20 lakh in Mudra scheme: Earlier under Mudra scheme (PMMY) maximum loan up to 10 lakh rupees was available, which has now been increased to 20 lakh rupees. This guarantee fund of government will give full security on business loans up to 20 lakh rupees to eligible people.2. Overdraft of 10,000 on Jan Dhan accounts: Those who have account of Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana, they get facility of overdraft up to 10,000 rupees from bank when needed i.e. facility to withdraw money even when zero balance in account. Its guarantee will also be covered from this fund.3. Help to women and self-help groups: Women or people working by forming self-help groups in villages and cities, they will also get direct benefit of this guarantee fund on taking loans from 10 lakh to 20 lakh rupees.

Here correction - Read carefully: For self-help groups, fund covers portfolio of 10 lakh to 20 lakh rupees. That is, guarantee is given as per entire portfolio of group, not 20 lakh separately to each member.3. 20 lakh will not be given to everyone - This point was left in old article This is the most important thing, which readers must know.

There are 4 categories in Mudra scheme:

Category Loan Amount For whom Shishu Up to 50,000 rupees Those starting new, very small work - cart, stitching, small shop
Kishor 50,001 to 5 lakh Those expanding established small business
Tarun 5 lakh to 10 lakh Growing micro enterprise
Tarun Plus 10 lakh to 20 lakh Only those who took Tarun loan and repaid successfully
Meaning is clear:Limit of 20 lakh came in October 2024 with Tarun Plus category.First time loan taker will not get 20 lakh directly. He will have to start from Shishu / Kishor / Tarun.Tarun Plus is a graduation category - Next ladder for those making good record.

If any agent tells you that he will get you 20 lakh in first time itself, then understand he is lying or cheating.4. Arrangement to make loan cheaper also - Fee reduced, not interest Government has not only extended guarantee period, but also reduced guarantee fee levied on banks.

Earlier banks had to pay 1% fee annually to government in return for this guarantee

Which has been reduced to 0.75% now

For self-help groups fee is kept very nominal as before i.e. 0.25% and 0.50%For Stand-Up India standard guarantee fee is 0.50%Very important clarification:

This is guarantee fee, not interest rate.

Interest on Mudra loan is decided by bank itself, usually remains between 9% to 12% annual. With reduction in fee, cost of banks will reduce, due to which getting loan passed will become even easier for common customers, but interest will not directly become 0.75%. Avoid this confusion.

5. How much benefit in Stand-Up scheme? - Full truth
Government has given a great opportunity to women, Scheduled Caste (SC) and Scheduled Tribe (ST) people to start their own business.

Cabinet headed by PM Modi has extended Stand-Up India scheme till 31 March 2031 and has also given green signal to 4,111 crore rupees Credit Guarantee Fund for it.Under this excellent scheme eligible people can easily take loan from bank from 10 lakh to 1 crore rupees to start their new work.

Direct aim of government is to make them self-reliant entrepreneurs by giving benefit of this scheme to 2.5 lakh new people in next 5 years. Target is kept to bring minimum 2.5 lakh beneficiaries under scheme.

Real conditions of this scheme, which were left in old article:For whom: Women and SC / ST entrepreneurs, for new - Greenfield - enterprise

Per branch target: Target of average 2 loans per bank branch is kept85% matter: Article said 85 percent of loan amount is provided by government - Actually in Stand-Up India bank loan can cover up to 85% of project cost, remaining 15% entrepreneur has to put from his side. This is not free money, it is loan.

Meaning: Stand-Up India is different from Mudra. It is for those starting big, new business, not for small shop.

6. Who can take loan? - Eligibility
For Mudra scheme:
Indian citizen, age above 18 yearsNon-agriculture, non-corporate micro enterprise - like shop, service, manufacturing, food, trading

New or running businessNo collateral is necessary, but business plan, Aadhaar, PAN, bank statement, income proof necessary

For Stand-Up India:Woman or person of SC / ST category, above 18 yearsNew greenfield enterprise - Not for expansion of already running businessShould not be defaulter of any bank / financial institutionLoan will not be available if:You are already defaulter in any loan

There is no plan of business at all
Documents are incomplete

7. How to apply? - This is most important part to avoid fraud

Correct way:Go to your nearest bank branch, RRB, NBFC, MFIApply online on Jan Samarth Portal - http://jansamarth.in or udyamimitra.in

For Mudra loan take only information on mudra.org.in - This portal does not give loan

Bank itself will approve loan, no government office directly gives loan

Avoid fraud:No government fee, processing fee, guarantee fee is asked online in name of Mudra / Stand-Up India

If any agent, WhatsApp number, fake website says give money then loan confirmed, then immediately be carefu

lNo processing fee is charged on Shishu loan, fee on bigger category give only on bank's receipt

Loan will have to be repaid. Getting guarantee does not mean loan waiver. If default happens then your CIBIL score will be spoiled and recovery will be done from you only.8. How many people have got benefit till now? Figures tell that since Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana started, till September 2026 banks have passed more than 60.36 crore loans, whose total amount stands at 43.34 lakh crore rupees. Behind this excellent record, this guarantee fund has biggest hand.

CGFMU started in January 2016. This guarantee fund has brought small businessmen from 2-5% monthly interest of moneylenders to formal banking.

Now ahead:
Estimate of 12.6 lakh crore new loans in 5 years - This is target, not already distributed moneyIf banks give loans to small people honestly, without bribe, then this scheme can create employment

Editorial Conclusion - Our appeal in public interest This decision is good, but decision alone is not enough. Government has given guarantee, now it's bank's turn.Small man should not be pushed around in bank branches, he should get help in filling form, his application should not be kept pending without reason - Only then meaning of 5000 crore guarantee will be made.

And it's people's turn -Don't consider loan as grant. Dream of 20 lakh, but start with honesty of 50 thousand. You will repay Tarun loan, only then door of Tarun Plus will open.

Government is taking your guarantee, now you have to give guarantee of your hard work.

Huge protest by transport sector against Delhi Government on 17 November!

Parivahan Vishesh News

Thousands of taxi and bus operators, vehicle owners and drivers will march towards Delhi Secretariat | Save Jobs - Save Transport Industry!

Presenter Special Correspondent Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra

A big upheaval has come in Delhi's transport industry. Delhi Taxi and Tourist Transporter Association (Regd.) has announced a huge protest at Delhi Secretariat on 17 November 2026 against the transport policies of Delhi Government.

Facts at a Glance - Point - Details
Organizer Delhi Taxi and Tourist Transporter Association (Regd.)Date of protest 17 November 2026Place Delhi Secretariat, New Delhi

Who will be included Taxi operators, bus operators, vehicle owners, drivers, tourist vehicle operators, transporters

Main demand Relief on BS-IV ban, heavy challan, panic button / VLTD expense, pressure of electric vehicle

Slogan Save Jobs - Save Transport Industry!

Main Points - Why protest?1. Permanent ban on BS-IV diesel buses Association says that due to permanent ban on BS-IV diesel buses, crores of capital of bus owners has sunk in one stroke. Buses whose installments are still running, have become stationary.
2. Four-month ban on BS-IV diesel taxis Four-month ban on taxi operators has completely stopped their monthly income, while installment, insurance, permit and driver's salary continues.
3. Heavy traffic challans Heavy traffic challans have broken the back of small operators. A month's earning goes away in one-two challans.
4. Excessive expense in name of panic button and VLTD Excessive expense imposed in name of panic button and Vehicle Location Tracking Device (VLTD), repeated fittings, service charge and fines have put additional financial burden on operators.5. Pressure to mandatorily adopt electric vehicles Pressure to make electric vehicles mandatory without adequate charging facility, without timely arrangement of subsidy and without proper compensation for old vehicles, is pushing industry into crisis.

Detailed Description
Part 1 - Industry in serious economic crisis President of association said that due to these policies of government thousands of vehicle owners and lakhs of drivers have reached verge of unemployment.

Taxi-bus is not just a vehicle, it is livelihood of a family. When vehicle will be stationary, then driver's stove will also become cold.Part 2 - Demand for meeting with Chief Minister, no solution Despite repeated requests for time for meeting with Chief Minister by association, till now no satisfactory solution to their problems has come out. Association says that we gave memorandum, demanded meeting, but there was no hearing. Now there is no way left except to come on road.
Part 3 - This is not only fight of taxi-bus Shri Sanjay Samrat warned that this protest of 17 November is not only fight of taxi and bus operators, but fight to save livelihood and employment of lakhs of families associated with transport industry.
In this taxi, bus, tourist vehicle, school bus, staff bus, transporter, driver, conductor, mechanic, agent - all are associated.
Part 4 - Appeal - Reach in maximum number He appealed to all taxi operators, bus owners, tourist vehicle operators, transporters and drivers of Delhi-NCR that they reach Delhi Secretariat in maximum number and make this protest successful.
What will happen on 17 November?
From morning operators and drivers will march towards Delhi Secretariat
Demand letter will be submitted to Chief Minister / Delhi Government by Association

Appeal has been made for peaceful, disciplined and democratic way of protest
Appeal for those participating in protest:
Keep your vehicle documents with you
Maintain peace, don't do any kind of violence / vandalism
Take care that traffic and general public should not face unnecessary trouble

Follow instructions of office bearers of Association

Editorial Comment Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra Daily believes that protection of environment is necessary, but protection of employment is equally necessary.

Stopping pollution is responsibility of government, but without alternative arrangement, without time, without compensation, making vehicle stationary in one stroke is not justice.
BS-IV vehicle was valid till yesterday, how did it suddenly become invalid today? Who will pay installment of vehicle on which there is bank loan?
Government should talk to Association before 17 November, give phased time-line, make arrangement of scrap / compensation / re-finance for old vehicles, and rationalize expense of VLTD / panic button.
And Association should also keep protest completely peaceful, so that sympathy of common Delhiite remains with it.
Today's resolve -Save Jobs - Save Transport Industry!
March towards Delhi Secretariat on 17 November!
Delhi Taxi and Tourist Transporter Association (Regd.)Note: This press release has been published in public interest on basis of statement issued by Association. On getting Delhi Government's side, it will also be given equal space.

If drugs end, 90% crimes will end - Supreme Court lawyer Ashwini Upadhyay claims, if law changes India will be drug-free in 1 year

Parivahan Vishesh News

Making-selling drugs be declared organized crime, terrorism and war against country - Full draft of changes in BNS, NSA, UAPA and NDPS

Report: Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra - Law / Janahit Desk

In many countries there is no trace of drugs and here in our country in every village, in every locality, in every ward drugs are being sold online. You don't need to go to shop, place order, place order on WhatsApp and it is reaching home, door delivery is happening, home delivery is happening.

This was said by Supreme Court lawyer Ashwini Upadhyay in his latest video message. His claim isWithin one year trace of drugs will be wiped out from India. Neither anyone will sell drugs in India, nor anyone will export drugs, nor any wholesaler of drugs will remain here, nor any dealer of drugs will remain. Within one year drugs will neither be sold in India, nor drugs will be made, drugs will not be seen anywhere, I say this with guarantee.

If not 100%, I take guarantee of ending 90% drug business.

This article fully presents in public interest that same statement, his proposal and its legal meaning. This is not a made-up law, this is proposal / demand to be passed from Parliament.

Main Facts - At a Glance
Who said: Supreme Court lawyer Ashwini Upadhyay

Main claim: If drugs end, 90% crimes from India will end

Time limit claim: On changing law, 90% to 100% drug business will end in 1 year

Existing law: NDPS Act 1985, Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita - BNS 2023, National Security Act - NSA 1980, UAPA 1967, SC / ST Act 1989Proposal: Making-selling drugs should not be considered minor crime, but considered threat to security of nation

Model: Strict investigation like SC / ST Act, time-bound action and reward system for informer

Target: Ending entire network - maker, seller, wholesaler, dealer, exporter1. Why is drugs root of crime? - Upadhyay's argument

Ashwini Upadhyay says why is there no talk only on prohibition?
Why is there no discussion on ending drug business?
According to him due to drugs:
Our wealth is also going, our religion is also going
Lakhs of people are becoming seriously ill in a year
Lakhs of people are dying untimely
Drug addicts are raping small girls
Incidents of adultery are increasing due to drugs
When addicts don't get money, they kill parents
When addicts don't get money, they kill wife
Many times they sell wife's mangalsutra, then buy drugs
Then why is there no discussion on drugs over India?
His question is - when drugs itself is becoming root of theft, murder, rape, domestic violence, suicide and road accidents, then why is it left aside considering it just as an anti-drug campaign? Why is it not considered as issue of national security?

2. 3 big questions to government - Which he raised
Ashwini Upadhyay has asked 3 direct questions to government:
1. Why is government not declaring drug making and drug selling as threat to security of nation?
2. Why is amendment not being made in National Security Act - NSA?
3. Why is drug making and drug selling not being declared as unlawful activity, why is change not being made in UAPA?

He says - If drug business itself is considered as crime against nation, then entire attitude of police, investigating agency and court will change. At present it is considered as a normal narcotic case, therefore businessmen escape due to bail, delay and less punishment.3. Proposal of 4 big changes in BNS - Full draftAshwini Upadhyay said - If I get chance then I will first amend BNS.

He named 4 sections of BNS:
BNS Section What is now Upadhyay's proposal
Section 111 Organized Crime I will declare drug making and drug selling as organized crime

Section 113 Terrorist act I will declare drug making and drug selling as terrorist act
Section 147 Waging War I will declare drug making and drug selling as waging war against country
Section 152 Threat to sovereignty of India I will declare drug making and drug selling as threat to sovereignty of India

Meaning is clear:
Now selling drugs is a crime. After proposal, selling drugs will be considered as crime of organized gang, crime like terrorism, crime like waging war against country.

What will happen with this?
Getting bail will become very difficult
Investigating agencies will get more powers
Seizing property will become easy
Punishment will be strict, fear will be created4. Change NDPS Act and make it like SC / ST Act - Biggest proposal

Ashwini Upadhyay's most detailed proposal is regarding 1985 NDPS Act.

He said -If I get chance then I will change this 1985 NDPS Act and put all provisions of this 1989 SC / ST Act into it.

Which 3 provisions of SC / ST Act are demanded to be brought into drug law?1. Informer will get 1 lakh rupees immediately

As in SC / ST Act the one who gets FIR registered gets 1 lakh rupees immediately, I will make same arrangement that whoever gives information about drug dealers to police, gives information about drug sellers to police or gives information about drug makers, he will get 1 lakh rupees immediately.

Its purpose:
Everyone in village-locality knows where drugs are being sold, who is selling. But people don't tell due to fear. If informer gets immediate reward and name remains secret, then information will come from every street.
2. Investigation not by constable-SI, but by ACP / DCPAs there is provision in SC / ST Act that constable-SI will not investigate, ACP, DCP will investigate and complete investigation within 2 months.
Upadhyay's proposal is - Same arrangement should be in NDPS also.
Investigation should not be at small level, but at ACP / DCP level
Investigation should be completed within 2 months
Evidence will not be spoiled due to delay, witnesses will not break3. SP / DM will monitor, report will go to topIn SC / ST Act SP, DM monitor and SP, DM give information to Chief Secretary and DGP.

Same arrangement should be done in drug business.
SP / DM review every month
Information goes to Chief Secretary and DGP

No SHO can suppress case5. What changes do they want in NSA and UAPA?

In video showing books of NSA and UAPA he said -NSA - National Security Act 1980:At present in NSA a person can be taken into custody considering as threat to national security. Upadhyay wants that drug maker-seller should also be brought directly under NSA, so that he cannot come out on bail and restart business again.
UAPA - Unlawful Activities Prevention Act 1967:At present UAPA is for terrorist activities. Upadhyay wants drug business also to be declared as unlawful activity, so that strict action like UAPA can be taken on its property, funding and network.

His argument:
Drug money itself nurtures terrorism, weapons, hawala and organized crime. Therefore seeing drugs separately from terrorism is itself a mistake.

6. Claim of 90% crimes ending - How much correct, how much debatable?
Where Upadhyay's argument is correct?
Drugs is truly a big reason for theft, loot, domestic violence, rape, road accidents and murder

Many small crimes happen only to collect money for drugs

Money of drug mafia itself nurtures other crimesIf supply of drugs breaks, then new addicts will not be made, old will go towards treatment

Where debate can happen

- Editorial balance:
The figure of 90% is not a government figure, it is speaker's estimate / claim. There is no official proof given that 90% of all crimes in India are linked only to drugs.Liquor, ganja, opium, charas, smack, cocaine, synthetic drugs - law, treatment and social reason of all are different. Everything will not end with same law.

Drugs does not end only with strict law, de-addiction centers, treatment, rehabilitation and employment are also necessary. Otherwise addict will come out of jail and again go into drugs.

In arrangement like SC / ST Act, risk of misuse also remains. If false information is given in greed of 1 lakh rupees, then innocent can get trapped. Therefore both investigation of information and security of witness are necessary.
Imposing serious allegations like Section 113 and 147 of BNS on every small drug seller can make case weak in court. Law will have to differentiate between big smuggler and small consumer.

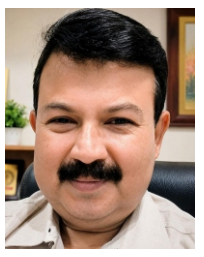

Therefore editorial opinion is:
Upadhyay's direction is correct - Drugs should be considered not just health issue, but security issue. But not only with punishment, strict law + fast investigation + treatment + security of informer - all four should go together, only then big change will be seen in 1 year.

7. What does it mean for common man?
If this proposal becomes law, then what will change?Fear in village-locality will end: Drug seller will not think that bail will be available in 2 months.
Informer will be safe: With reward of 1 lakh rupees and arrangement of keeping name secret, people will come forward.
There will be no delay in investigation: With ACP / DCP level investigation and 2 months time limit, cases will not hang.Big sharks will be caught: Not only small peddler selling sachets, but also wholesaler, funder and exporter will be caught.
Addict will get treatment: If in law addict is considered not as criminal but as victim and arrangement of treatment is added, then families will be saved from breaking.
If law is not changed, then what will happen?
Order on WhatsApp, home delivery, online drugs - This network will become bigger
New synthetic drugs will come in market
Youth generation will be ruined the most

Editorial Conclusion - Our appeal in public interest
Drugs is not just ruin of one person, it is ruin of entire family, entire locality and entire nation.
Appeal to government -Don't just give speech on drugs, change law. Make changes in NDPS, BNS, NSA, UAPA - all four together. Make investigation fast, give reward and security to informer.
Appeal to society -Don't remain silent considering drug seller as neighbour. One information can save someone's daughter, someone's mother, someone's son's life.
Appeal to family of addict -Don't just abuse addict, get him treated. Punishment should be given to smuggler, treatment to addict.How much correct is Ashwini Upadhyay's 90% claim in figures, debate can happen on it, but his message is clear -If drugs end, then only crime will end. If drugs remain, then crime will increase.Now Parliament has to decide - Will book of law change or market of drugs will keep increasing?

World Pneumonia Day: Dr. Roop Kumar Banerjee told surefire measures for prevention and recovery from pneumonia

Parivahan Vishesh News

Gorakhpur. On the occasion of World Pneumonia Day, Gorakhpur's renowned Homeopathic doctor Dr. Roop Kumar Banerjee, while making people aware about this serious disease, shared important health suggestions. He told that pneumonia is a dangerous infection of lungs, for prevention of which awareness and right lifestyle is mandatory. He told that after recovering from pneumonia, body remains weak, therefore take 7-8 hours of sleep daily and slowly start light walk and pranayama.For repair of lungs, include protein (pulses, paneer), Vitamin C (lemon, amla) and antioxidants (green vegetables) in diet. Completely avoid cold drinks and junk food. Avoid smoking and mandatorily use N95 mask at places with polluted air. Try to reduce smoke even inside house. Do Anulom-Vilom and Bhramari Pranayama to increase functionality of lungs. In case of phlegm problem, taking steam (steam inhalation) is beneficial. Do not leave course of medicines given by doctor in middle and get regular follow-up done. To avoid infection, wash hands repeatedly and maintain distance from crowded places. Dr. Banerjee finally gave message that taking care of mental health and remaining stress-free is also helpful in increasing immunity.

Avoid pneumonia this winter - Healthy habits mantra on World Pneumonia Day, big disease can be avoided with small changes

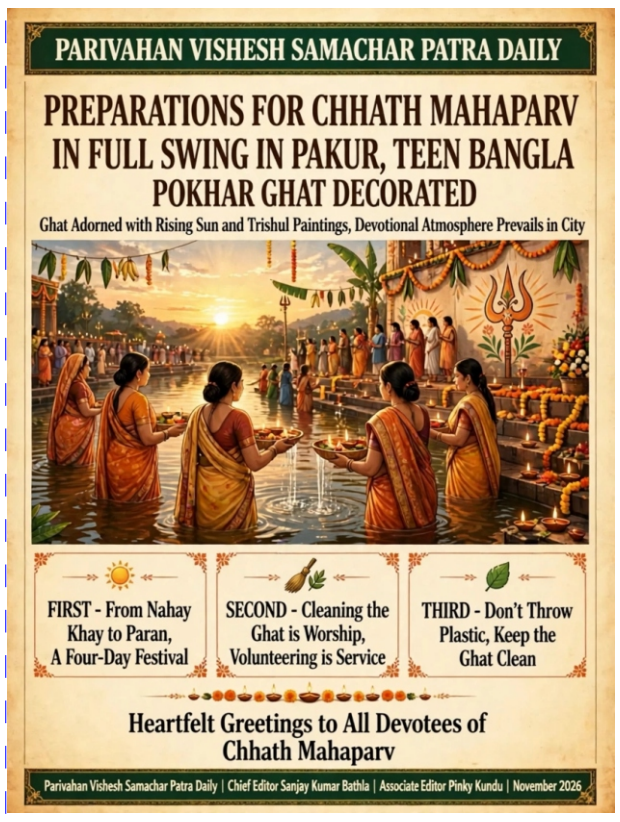

Parivahan Vishesh News

Child vaccination, mother's milk, hand hygiene and distance from smoke - 5 easy habits that will keep lungs strong

Report: Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra - Health / Janahit Desk

With the arrival of winter, cough, cold, fever and breathing difficulty increase. Among these, the most dangerous disease is - Pneumonia. It is an infection of lungs, which affects children, elderly and people with weak immunity the most.On World Pneumonia Day, under Health Care - Healthy Habits, a direct message has been given - Prevention of pneumonia is easier than treatment. Proper vaccination, good nutrition, cleanliness and meeting doctor on time is the biggest protection.This article presents that same message in detail, in common man's language, so that every house can keep its children and elderly safe this winter.Note: These are general health suggestions. These are not a substitute for doctor's advice. In case of illness, definitely contact your nearest doctor.Main Facts - At a GlanceDisease: Pneumonia - infection of lungsMost at risk: Small children, elderly, people with asthma / lung diseaseDangerous season: Winter and smog / foggy days5 sutras of prevention: Vaccination, breastfeeding + nutrition, hand hygiene, distance from smoke, timely treatment3 essential vaccines for children: PCV - Pneumococcal, Hib, MeaslesBreastfeeding: Only mother's milk for first 6 monthsDanger symptoms: Cough with fever, fast or difficult breathing, chest painBiggest mistake: Considering cough-fever as minor and treating at home for long1. What is pneumonia? - Understand in simple language In pneumonia, infection occurs in lungs. Air sacs in lungs - alveoli - get swollen and get filled with pus / fluid. Due to this breathing becomes difficult, oxygen starts reducing.Why does pneumonia happen?Infection from bacteria, virus or fungusAttack of bacteria after viral infection in winterWeakening of lungs due to smoke, pollution and cold airMalnutrition and weak immunityWho is at most risk?Children below 5 years - Whose immunity is still developingElderly above 65 years - Whose lungs have become weakPeople with asthma, COPD, diabetes, heart diseasePeople who smoke and live in smokeMalnourished childrenPneumonia is not just cough, it is a breathing disease. If delayed, it can become life-threatening.2. First prevention - Keep children's vaccination complete The strongest weapon for prevention of pneumonia is - Vaccine.Under National Immunization Programme, definitely get these vaccines given to children:Vaccine What it protects fromPCV - Pneumococcal Conjugate Vaccine From pneumonia caused by pneumococcal bacteriaHib - Haemophilus Influenzae Type B From pneumonia and meningitis caused by Hib bacteriaMeasles From pneumonia happening after measles3 essential things for parents:Keep vaccination card safely, if any vaccine is missed then ask at Anganwadi / PHCGetting mild fever after vaccination is normal, don't panicVaccine can be given not only at government hospital, but also at recognized private centre, but definitely get entry done on cardGetting vaccine is not expense, it is saving. One vaccine can save child from thousands of rupees expense of hospital and life risk.3. Second prevention - Only mother's milk for first 6 months, then good nutrition Child's first protection is in mother's milk.First 6 months - Exclusive Breastfeeding:For first 6 months give only mother's milk to child, nothing like water, honey, ghuttiMother's first thick yellow milk - colostrum - is first vaccine for childMother's milk has antibodies, which fight lung infectionAfter 6 months - Good nutrition:After 6 months start complementary food with mother's milk - dal water, khichdi, porridge, boiled vegetables, fruitsGive child food with protein, Vitamin A, C, zinc and ironGreen vegetables, dal, egg, milk, seasonal fruits - All these increase immunityNutrition is necessary for elderly and adults also:Take hot, fresh and nutritious food in winterDon't drink less water, drink lukewarm waterReduce junk food, cold and stale foodGood nutrition is natural shield of child. Only weak child gets caught in pneumonia quickly.4. Third prevention - Hand hygiene, cough etiquette, distance from smoke Germs of pneumonia spread through hands, cough and smoke. Therefore adopt 3 habits:1. Wash hands - With soap, repeatedlyBefore eating food, after toilet, on coming from outsideDefinitely wash hands before touching child's mouth, nose, eyeIf soap is not there then use hand sanitizer2. Cover cough-sneezeCover mouth with handkerchief, tissue or elbow while coughing-sneezingPut used tissue immediately in dustbinTeach same habit to child also - Don't open mouth in cough3. Stay away from smokeStay away from tobacco / bidi / cigarette smoke, absolutely don't smoke in front of childIf there is smoke of stove / wood / coal in house then keep ventilation, child should not sleep in smoky roomSmoke of incense stick, mosquito coil can also harm child with asthmaSmoke weakens lungs from inside. House with smoke invites pneumonia.5. Fourth prevention - Special caution on smog days In winter, smog / fog increases at many places including Delhi-NCR, Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar. On smog days burden on lungs becomes double.What to do on smog days:Reduce outside exercise, running, gamesKeep elderly and asthma / lung disease people inside houseIf going outside is necessary then wear mask, don't go for walk in dense fog of morningKeep doors-windows of house closed, if there is air purifier then run itMop house with wet cloth, don't let dust flyWho needs to take most care:Asthma, allergy, COPD patientsChildren below 5 yearsElderly above 65 yearsHeart and lung patients6. Fifth prevention - Go to doctor immediately if danger symptoms appear Biggest mistake in pneumonia is - delaying.Go to doctor immediately, if:Cough is coming with feverBreathing is fast or there is difficulty in breathingThere is pain in chestChild's ribs are moving, nose is flaringLips or nails are turning blueChild is not drinking milk, has become dullElderly is having breathlessness, confusion / weaknessWhat not to do at home:Don't start antibiotic without doctor's adviceDon't wait for 3-4 days thinking it will get cured with cough medicine onlyDon't delay doctor trusting only steam / home remediesEarly treatment saves life. In pneumonia even 24 hours delay can prove costly.7. Healthy Habits Checklist for every house in winterEvery morning:Drink lukewarm waterOpen windows of house and let fresh air come - if there is no smogMake child wear warm clothesWhole day:Wash hands with soapCover mouth in coughStay away from smokeAt night:Don't make child sleep directly in cold airDon't let moisture increase in room, don't dry wet clothes in roomIf there is fever / cough then keep watch whole nightWhole season:Check vaccination cardSee child's weight and nutritionGive elderly's medicine on timeEditorial Conclusion - Our appeal in public interest Pneumonia does not see poor-rich, it sees weak lungs.Appeal to parents -Don't leave child's vaccination incomplete. Give only mother's milk for 6 months. Keep child away from smoke.Appeal to family of elderly -Don't send grandparents for walk outside on smog days. If they are having breathlessness then immediately show to doctor.Appeal to school and Anganwadi -Teach children to wash hands and cover mouth in cough daily. This small habit will save from big disease.Appeal to society -Don't smoke bidi-cigarette in front of child. Parivahan Vishesh News

Committee people engaged day and night from 7 AM, decoration work will be completed by November 13 - Atmosphere of devotion and enthusiasm in city

Report: Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra - Pakur / Janahit Desk Pakur.

Preparations regarding the festival of faith Chhath are going on in full swing. Cleaning, decoration and lighting work is being done rapidly at various Chhath ghats of the city. Committee people are engaged day and night to make ghats attractive.Especially at the city's Teen Bangla Pokhar Ghat, special decoration is being done. On the walls of the pond, figures of trident and rising sun are being made through colorful paintings. Target is to complete decoration work by 13 November. Amid Chhath preparations, there is an atmosphere of enthusiasm and devotion in the whole city.Main Facts - At a GlanceDistrict: Pakur, JharkhandFestival: The great festival of faith Chhath, 4-day festivalMain Ghat: Teen Bangla Pokhar Ghat, various Chhath ghats of cityWork: Cleaning, decoration, lighting, paintingSpecial Decoration: Figures of trident, swastik and rising sun on walls of pondTarget: Complete decoration work by 13 NovemberPeople working: Committee people, team of three-three peopleWork time: Starts from around 7 AM, completion by next Saturday 14 November1. Special decoration at Teen Bangla Pokhar Ghat - What all is happening? Teen Bangla Pokhar Ghat is going to become the most attractive ghat of Pakur this time.Works happening at ghat:Cleaning: Dirt around pond and ghat is being removed, special attention is being paid to cleaning of waterPainting: Colorful painting is being done on walls of pondTrident figure: Figures of trident are being made on wallsSwastik figure: Figures of swastik, symbol of auspiciousness, are being madePicture of rising sun: Chhath's biggest symbol - rising sun - is being engraved on wallsLighting: Work for lighting is going on so that ghat glitters at nightGhat will be adorned with picture of rising sun - this will be the biggest identity this time.Committee people say - Ghat is not just a place of worship, it is a centre of faith. That is why it is being decorated in such a way that devotees and faithful get immersed in devotion as soon as they come.2. Work from 7 AM, team of 3-3 people - Committee's hard work A worker working at ghat said - Preparation of Chhath ghat is happening here. Our work has been going on since around seven o'clock today and we will conclude on Saturday, next Saturday i.e. we are completing full preparation by 14th.How many people together? We are three-three people.Meaning is clear - not big machine or big budget, ghat is being decorated with Small team, Big devotion.Teams of three-three people reach ghat from morning itself with paint, brush, bamboo and light. Someone is painting on wall, someone is making bamboo structure, someone is looking at lighting wiring.This is the real tradition of Chhath - Donation of labour is biggest service.3. Dates of Chhath Mahaparv - Full program of 4 days This time full program of Chhath in Pakur is as follows:Day Date FestivalFirst Day 13 November 2026 Nahay-KhaySecond Day 14 November 2026 KharnaThird Day 15 November 2026 Sandhya Arghya - Arghya to setting sunFourth Day 16 November 2026 Usha Arghya and Paran - Arghya to rising sunFirst Day - Nahay-Khay, 13 November: Vratis take bath and consume pure food. Vrat is considered to start from this day itself.Second Day - Kharna, 14 November:After whole day Nirjala fast, Prasad of kheer-roti is made in evening. 36 hours of difficult Nirjala fast starts from this day itself.Third Day - Sandhya Arghya, 15 November:Vratis offer Arghya to setting sun. This is the biggest scene of Chhath - thousands of people stand in water and offer Arghya to sun.Fourth Day - Usha Arghya and Paran, 16 November:Vrat is broken by offering Arghya to rising sun in morning.4. Cleaning going on at various ghats of city - Not just one ghatSpecial decoration is happening at Teen Bangla Pokhar Ghat, but cleaning work is also going on at various ghats of city.Every ghat committee is cleaning its own ghat.Cleaning of stairs of ghatRemoving dirt accumulated in waterCleaning of approach roadsMaking place for sitting and offering ArghyaArrangement of light and tentChhath in Pakur is not festival of just one ghat, it is festival of whole city. People of every locality, every ward gather at their nearest ghat.5. Why is Chhath the great festival of faith? - For new readersChhath Mahaparv is celebrated in Bihar, Jharkhand, Eastern Uttar Pradesh and now in whole country.Its 3 big specialties are:Worship of Sun: In Chhath, Arghya is offered to both setting and rising sun. This is the only festival in which setting sun is also worshipped.Worship of Chhathi Maiya: Chhathi Maiya is worshipped for children, happiness-prosperity of family and wishes.Cleanliness and Purity: Purity is biggest thing in Chhath. Vratis go to ghat without shoes-slippers, with pure mind. Special attention is paid to cleanliness from house to ghat.This is the reason that cleaning of ghat is considered part of worship itself. If ghat will be dirty, then worship will be considered incomplete. That is why committee people are doing cleanliness considering it as service.6. Important appeal for Vratis and devotees - In public interestFor Vrati families:Reach ghat on time, do not push in crowdTake special care of children and elderlyDo not throw plastic and polythene at ghat, do not dirty pondFor committees and administration:There should be sufficient light, drinking water and seating arrangement at ghatBarricading and divers/swimmers / volunteers should be deployed in deep water partArrangement of ambulance and first aid should be thereThere should be separate routes for crowd to come and goFor city people:Drive vehicle slowly around ghat for 4 days of ChhathTake care that noise of loudspeaker does not become obstacle in rest of VratisIf you are not going to ghat, then also cooperate in cleanlinessEditorial Conclusion - Our appeal in public interestPakur's Teen Bangla Pokhar Ghat this time is not being decorated only with painting, it is being decorated with devotion.Salute to committee people -Those who are decorating ghat from 7 AM in team of three-three people, they are not laborers of any contractor, they are servants of faith.Appeal to city people -Decorating ghat is committee's work, keeping ghat clean is work of all of us.Salute to Vrati mothers-sisters -36 hours Nirjala fast, hard penance and prayer for family - This is the real power of Chhath.Picture of rising sun is being made on wall, but real rising sun will be seen on morning of 16 November at ghat - when thousands of hands will rise together for Arghya.Heartiest greetings of Chhath Mahaparv to all Vratis and Pakur residents.

MONEY & RELATIONSHIP PREDICTION

Know Your Day • Protect Your Money • Strengthen Your Relationships

Parivahan Vishesh News

13 NOVEMBER 2026 | Day vibration: 7 — Reflection, research, intuition and clarity

Moolank 1
Money & Career: Use Day 7 to examine a proposal before taking charge. A careful review of costs and assumptions will strengthen your next move.
Relationship: Listen before offering solutions; a quieter approach may reveal what your partner actually needs.
Precaution: Avoid forcing a quick answer or treating a different opinion as opposition.
Make Your Day Better: Verify one important fact before making a decision

Moolank 2
Money & Career: Your intuition is useful for spotting an overlooked expense, but confirm it against records before committing money.
Relationship: Share your feelings clearly instead of hoping someone will interpret your silence.
Precaution: Avoid taking uncertainty personally or lending money out of sympathy.
Make Your Day Better: Ask one clarifying question and set a gentle boundary.

Moolank 3
Money & Career: Day 7 favours research and refinement over promotion. Improve the substance of a creative project before presenting it.
Relationship: A sincere, thoughtful conversation will mean more than a busy social schedule.
Precaution: Avoid distractions, superficial promises and spending to gain attention.
Make Your Day Better: Give one promising idea focused time without interruptions.

Moolank 4
Money & Career: Your methodical approach suits Day 7. Audit a budget, agreement or process and identify one hidden weakness.
Relationship: Be careful not to turn a personal concern into criticism or an interrogation.
Precaution: Avoid perfectionism and delaying every decision until all uncertainty disappears.
Make Your Day Better: Make one practical correction based on your review.

Moolank 5
Money & Career: Pause the rush for new deals. Compare terms and research unfamiliar opportunities before moving money.
Relationship: Explain your need for freedom or quiet rather than changing plans without notice.
Precaution: Avoid impulsive bookings, speculative spending and careless disclosures.
Make Your Day Better: Replace one hurried choice with an informed one.

Moolank 6
Money & Career: Look beneath the surface of a household or client expense. Day 7 supports thoughtful value assessment rather than luxury purchases.
Relationship: Offer attentive listening instead of trying to fix every emotion with a gift.
Precaution: Avoid comfort shopping and assuming care requires self-sacrifice.
Make Your Day Better: Review one recurring expense and make time for a heartfelt exchange.

Moolank 7
Money & Career: Your Moolank 7 resonates with Day 7, making reflection and specialist research especially appealing. Turn insight into a realistic plan.
Relationship: Your need for solitude may increase; communicate it warmly to prevent misunderstanding.
Precaution: Avoid isolation, suspicion and endless analysis without action.
Make Your Day Better: Write down one insight and its next concrete step.

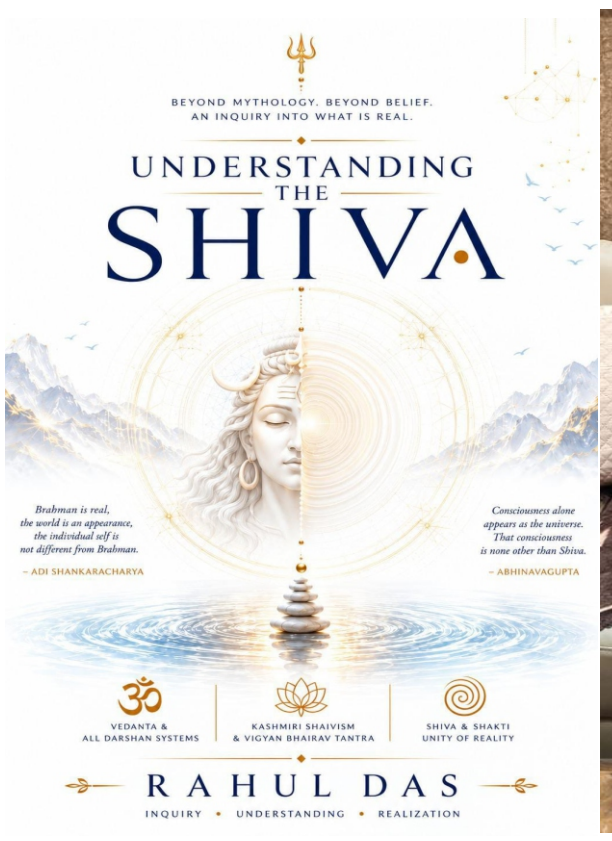

Moolank 8
Money & Career: Day 7 calls for due diligence. Recheck investment risks, contracts and long-term commitments before using your authority.
Relationship: Make space for feelings rather than approaching every disagreement as a problem to control.
Precaution: Avoid secretive financial moves, harsh judgments and pressure tactics.
Make Your Day Better: Ask for independent facts and respond with patience.

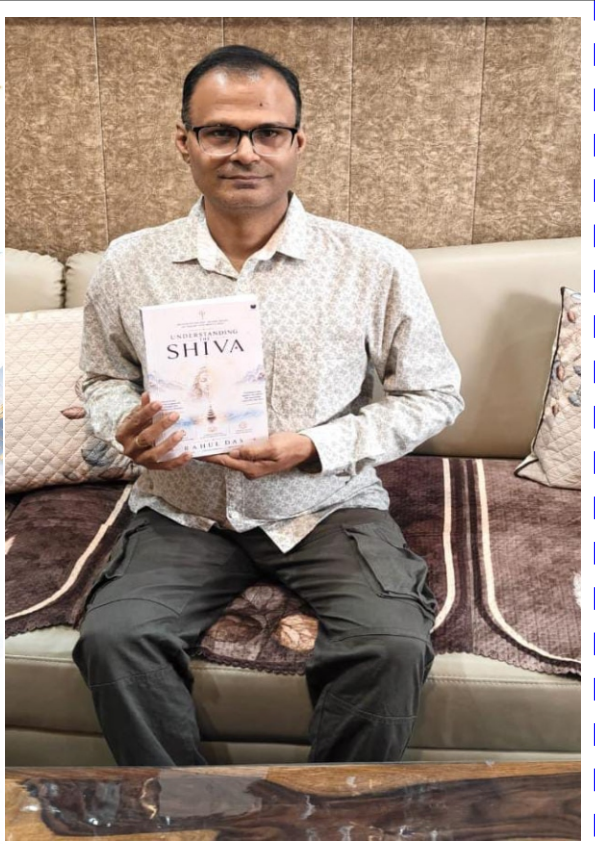

Moolank 9
Money & Career: Reflect on where your time and money truly serve a purpose. Finish a pending obligation before supporting a new cause.
Relationship: An old hurt may deserve calm discussion, not another emotional confrontation.
Precaution: Avoid guilt-driven generosity and reopening conflict without a constructive aim.
Make Your Day Better: Close one loose end and release an unnecessary burden.

A Focused Inquiry into Consciousness, Dissolution, and Fundamental Reality

By Rahul Das

Rahul Das announces the worldwide release of his latest book, Understanding the Shiva, an intellectual exploration of one of India's most profound philosophical concepts.What if Shiva is not merely a deity to be worshipped, but a fundamental inquiry into the nature of existence itself?Moving beyond conventional mythology and religious interpretations, the book explores Shiva through the philosophical traditions of Advaita Vedanta and Kashmir Shaivism, while engaging with contemporary philosophy, consciousness studies, neuroscience, and modern physics.It raises some of humanity's most fundamental questions: What is consciousness? Is reality fundamentally material, or does consciousness hold a deeper place in existence? Who are we beyond our body, mind, and identity? What happens when everything we perceive as permanent undergoes dissolution?By bringing ancient Indian philosophical inquiry into conversation with modern scientific thought, Rahul Das presents a fresh perspective on consciousness, time, identity, creation, and the ultimate nature of reality.Written for intellectually curious readers, seekers, and those willing to question established assumptions, Understanding the Shiva invites readers to move beyond belief and explore the deeper questions of existence through reason, reflection, and inquiry.

Solution camps are becoming an effective medium for solving public problems: DC

Parivahan Vishesh News

DC Varsha Khanwal listened to the problems of the citizens in the district level solution camp.

Jhajjar, November 12 .

The district administration is working diligently and seriously to ensure timely and effective resolution of public problems. The resolution camps being organized at the district and subdivision levels are proving to be an effective platform for resolving citizens' issues. DC Varsha Khanwal stated this during a public hearing at the resolution camp held in the Mini Secretariat auditorium on Thursday. She listened carefully to the concerns of the citizens who had come to the camp and directed the concerned officials to take necessary action.

Officials should solve public problems through mutual coordination

DC Varsha Khanwal stated that the district administration is continuously monitoring the complaints received at the resolution camps. Most of the complaints received so far have been resolved, while the necessary guidelines have been issued to the concerned departments to resolve pending complaints. She urged officials not to limit themselves to simply registering complaints, but also to regularly monitor their resolution process.

Government giving priority to public service: DCDC Varsha Khanwal said that the purpose of the Samadhan Camps, held every Monday and Thursday, is to provide citizens with a simple and effective means of resolving their problems. These camps bring together officials from various departments, eliminating the need to visit multiple offices to resolve their issues. She said that the Haryana government prioritizes public service in the spirit of Antyodaya. In keeping with the Chief Minister's vision, the administration strives to listen to every citizen's problem with seriousness and sensitivity and ensure its prompt resolution.

The objective is to effectively solve the problems of the citizens.

The DC stated that the purpose of the resolution camps is not just to hear complaints, but also to provide effective solutions to citizens. He instructed officials to remain sensitive to public concerns and ensure action is taken within the stipulated time.Cases related to family identity card and pension reachedCitizens arrived at the resolution camp with problems related to various government schemes, including the Family Identity Card, Ayushman Card, and Social Security Pension. Citizens also raised issues related to the police department with officials. The DC instructed the concerned officials to investigate each case seriously and take action as per the rules. In many cases, necessary solutions were ensured on the spot.This officer was present

Action should be taken against units and individuals violating regulations, as per the rules.Emphasis on anti-smog guns and water sprinkling to control road dustDC Varsha Khanwal said that to control dust on the roads, the concerned departments should effectively deploy anti-smog guns and water sprinklers. Necessary measures should be taken to prevent dust from spreading into the air at construction sites. Strict monitoring should be maintained on those who burn garbage and crop residue in the open. She directed officials to issue challans to those who violate the rules and, if necessary, file FIRs against those burning garbage.District residents should also play an active role in pollution controlThe DC appealed to district residents for cooperation in the air pollution control campaign, saying that citizens should keep their vehicles' PUC certificates updated, turn off the engine at red lights, and ensure proper vehicle maintenance. Avoid littering or burning garbage in the open. Plant as many trees as possible and adopt environmentally friendly activities. He said that for clean air and a healthy environment, the participation of every citizen, along with the administration, is essential.

Officials should complete SIR works as per Election Commission rules: Monica Malik

Parivahan Vishesh News

Rohtak Divisional Commissioner Monika Malik directed officials to complete the work in accordance with the Election Commission's guidelines, and BLOs will again conduct door-to-door contact.

Rohtak Divisional Commissioner Monika Malik reviewed the SIR campaign in a meeting of officials.

Jhajjar, November 12 .

Rohtak Divisional Commissioner Monika Malik said that the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of the 2026 voter list in the district should be completed in a timely and transparent manner, in accordance with the guidelines of the Election Commission of India. To this end, BLOs will go door-to-door to contact voters, so that no eligible voter's name is left out of the electoral roll.Divisional Commissioner Monika Malik was reviewing the progress of the SIR campaign during a meeting of officials at the Jhajjar Mini Secretariat on Thursday. Meanwhile, DC and District Election Officer Varsha Khangwal welcomed the Divisional Commissioner and provided detailed information on the ongoing revision work in the district.Officials should inform voters about the process of filling and submitting the counting form.The Divisional Commissioner stated that the Election Commission of India's primary objective is to provide every eligible citizen with the opportunity to be included in the voter list. To this end, voters included in the ASDD category will be re-identified and physically verified. He directed officials and BLOs to seriously conduct door-to-door contact and inform concerned voters about the process of filling out and submitting the counting forms.He also appealed to representatives of all political parties to cooperate with the administration in this task through their Booth Level Agents (BLAs). BLAs should assist BLOs in identifying such voters and disseminating information to eligible voters, so that no eligible voter is left out of the prescribed process.The Divisional Commissioner stated that the lists of voters included in the ASDD category have been made available on the Chief Electoral Officer, Haryana's website and posted at all polling stations. If any citizen has an objection to a name on the list, they can lodge their objection with the concerned BLO. He directed officials to ensure that objections and information received during the verification process are processed as per the rules.He said that the objective of the SIR process is to make the voter list more accurate and error-free. To achieve this, the administration, election officials, BLOs, and representatives of political parties must work in coordination.You can submit the calculation form yourself or through a family member.Rohtak Divisional Commissioner Monika Malik said that voters included in the ASDD list can submit their duly filled enumeration form physically to the concerned Electoral Registration Officer (ERO), Assistant Electoral Registration Officer (AERO) or Booth Level Officer either themselves or through a family member. Furthermore, once the e-signature facility is available on the ECINET portal, the enumeration form can also be submitted online. Census-2027 Population census to begin in Jhajjar from January 25: DC

Parivahan Vishesh News

From January 10 to 24, citizens will be able to self-enumerate online.

The census will be conducted digitally; enumerators will go door-to-door to collect information on families and individuals, with special emphasis on ensuring 100% coverage.

DC and Chief Census Officer Varsha Khanwal gave the information.

Jhajjar,November 12 .

The second phase of the Census of India 2027 will conduct the population count from January 25 to February 28, 2027. This will be followed by a five-day revision round from March 1 to March 5, 2027. This information was provided by Varsha Khanwal, Deputy Commissioner and Chief Census Officer.

DC Varsha Khanwal said that school teachers and other government employees will be deployed for this important task of population census. She informed that before the census, the citizens of Jhajjar district will be provided the facility of self-enumeration from January 10 to January 24, 2027. During this period, citizens will be able to enter the necessary information related to their families themselves through the online portal https://se.census.gov.in This time the census process is being conducted digitally. Enumerators will enter the data through the designated mobile application available on smart phones. The digital system will help in reducing errors in data collection and completing the work within the stipulated time limit.

Each person will be asked 40 questions.

Chief Census Officer Varsha Khanwal stated that during the census, information on each individual will be collected through a prescribed questionnaire. According to training information released in Haryana, the questionnaire will include a total of 40 questions. These questions will collect details related to demographics, social, educational, economic activities, language, migration, and other prescribed topics. This data will be used to formulate development plans for the country and state, assess the need for public facilities, and understand the demographic needs of various areas. Therefore, the participation of every family and citizen is essential to the success of the census.

Employees will play an important role in census work

The DC stated that school teachers and other government employees will play a crucial role in the second phase of the census. The concerned departments will ensure that the officers and employees appointed for the census work perform their duties with full responsibility, dedication, and promptness. Necessary training and guidance will also be provided to the employees engaged in the census work so that the census work can be completed smoothly within the stipulated timeframe.

He stated that Census 2027 is being conducted digitally. Data collection and online monitoring have been implemented through mobile applications. He also clarified that information provided by citizens during the census will be kept confidential in accordance with the provisions of the Census Act, 1948.Citizens should enter correct and complete information during self-enumeration.

DC Varsha Khanwal appealed to citizens to enter accurate and complete information during the self-enumeration and to cooperate fully with census staff by providing them with the necessary information when they visit their homes. Self-enumeration allows citizens to enter their information in advance, while enumerators will then go door-to-door to collect and verify the necessary information.

To provide necessary information to the enumerators during the census, keep your Aadhaar number, passport number, driving license number and voter ID card ready in advance, so that the relevant details can be made available to the enumerators if required.

DC Varsha Khanwal appealed to all citizens of the district to take maximum advantage of the self-enumeration facility and to cooperate in this important national task by providing accurate and complete information to census staff. She said that only with the collective cooperation of all citizens and the concerned departments can the Census 2027 work be successfully completed in Jhajjar district, so that no individual or family is left out of the census.

Government job is not a right till 60 years - Big decision of Supreme Court, compulsory retirement is not punishment, it is right of public interest

Parivahan Vishesh News

Retirement of 5 employees of Chhattisgarh is correct, after 50 years / 20 years service government can review - Hearing and departmental inquiry not necessary

Report: Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra - Law / Janahit Desk

Government can give compulsory retirement to an employee even before prescribed age for public interest and betterment of administrative system. Supreme Court in an important decision clarified that objective of compulsory retirement is not to punish employee, but to maintain efficiency of government machinery.Court upheld decision of Chhattisgarh Government, in which employees of Legal Metrology Department were retired before time. Supreme Court clarified that right to remain in government service till normal age of retirement is not unconditional. Service rules give right to government that it can review work and service record of employee and take necessary decision in public interest.Main Facts - At a GlanceCase: Chatur Singh Dhruv vs State of Chhattisgarh and others, along with appeal of Manharan Lal SahuCitation: 2026 INSC 1205 - Reportable judgmentDate of judgment: 6 November 2026Bench: Justice Manmohan and Justice Shri Chandrasekhar, judgment written by Justice ManmohanDepartment: Chhattisgarh Legal Metrology Department, Raipur, Weight-Measurement DepartmentLegal basis: Fundamental Rule 56 and Rule 42(1)(b) of Chhattisgarh Civil Service (Pension) Rules, 1976Basis of review: Circular of General Administration Department dated 25 April 2017Criteria of review: Employees completing 50 years age or completing 20 years of eligible serviceResult: Both appeals dismissed, High Court's decision dated 12 April 2023 upheld, no order of cost1. Employees had reached till Assistant Grade-3 - Full storyCase was related to 5 employees of Legal Metrology Department of Chhattisgarh. Chatur Singh Dhruv and Manharan Lal Sahu were also included in these.Both were appointed initially as Class IV employee - Peon.Chatur Singh Dhruv was appointed in 1989 and Manharan Lal Sahu was appointed in 1993 in Raipur.Later getting promotion they reached post of Assistant Grade-3. Dhruv got promotion in 2012 and Sahu got promotion in 2013.On 19 June 2015 their services were regularized.In year 2017 government gave them compulsory retirement.Both employees challenged decision of government in High Court, but did not get relief from there. After this they knocked door of Supreme Court. Top court also refused to interfere in government's decision.Journey:High Court Single Bench - Petition dismissed on 23 August 2019 -> High Court Division Bench - Decision upheld on 12 April 2023 -> Supreme Court - Appeal dismissed on 6 November 20262. What did Screening Committee do? - This part was left in old articleIn year 2017 General Administration Department issued circular. In it direction was given to review service record of government employees whose age had completed 50 years or who had completed 20 years of service.There were 4 criteria of review:Honesty and IntegrityPhysical CapacityReputation and Work CapacityOverall Evaluation, being below B - GoodScreening Committee:Committee held meeting on 4 September 2017Reviewed entire service record of 14 clerical employeesConverted ACR grading into numbers - A+ = 5, A = 4, B = 3, C = 2, D = 1Recommended compulsory retirement of 5 employeesOrders issued on 9 October 2017Record of both employees:Chatur Singh Dhruv: A in 2013, then continuously C from 2014 to 2017, average 2.4Manharan Lal Sahu: C every year from 2013 to 2017, average 2.0, integrity in integrity certificate recorded as doubtfulSupreme Court said - Committee did not see only 5 years ACR, first saw entire service dossier, then saw 5 years ACR to check continuous decline. Therefore it was not arbitrary.Other 3 employees whose retirement was recommended - Ramlal Sarute, Ishwar Prasad Sahu and Chitram Dhruve.3. Supreme Court laid down 5 big principles1. Compulsory retirement is not punishment, not stigmaCourt said - Order of compulsory retirement is neither punitive nor does any stigma attach to it. No stigma is attached to conduct of employee, nor does any conclusion of misconduct arise in it.Its meaning:Departmental inquiry not necessary for itGiving opportunity of hearing to employee not necessary, because it is not penal actionThis is not Dismissal / Removal. Employee will continue to get pension and retirement benefits as per rules.2. Power of government is very wide, but not arbitraryCourt said - Power of compulsory retirement has quite wide scope. Its main condition is that concerned officer should take his decision with full honesty - Bona Fide - and on basis of solid facts.Officer should be satisfied that keeping employee in service is no longer in public interest. This satisfaction should not be on speculation or arbitrariness, but should be on objective and relevant material present on record.3. Removing dead wood is work of governmentCourt said - Whether an officer has become dead wood or his continuation will be harmful for administrative efficiency, final assessment of it is domain of executive - government. Court cannot re-weigh facts like appeal in it.Judicial Review is only to extent whether government has followed its prescribed rules and criteria or not.4. Even uncommunicated adverse remark can also be seenArgument of employees was - Some adverse ACR remarks were not even communicated to them, therefore they cannot be considered.Supreme Court rejected it. Court cited old decision of Baikunth Nath Das - Order will not be cancelled only because uncommunicated adverse remark was also seen for compulsory retirement.Also: In cases of Dev Dutt vs Union of India and Sukhdev Singh vs Union of India, talk of seeing entire service record was said, in this case Court said - Entire record has been seen.5. Old badness does not get wiped by promotionArgument of employees was - After promotion and regularization, old adverse remarks cannot be seen.Court said - Promotion can weaken old adverse remarks, but cannot wipe out bad remarks recorded after promotion.In this case bad grading was after promotion - from 2014 to 2017. Therefore promotion did not become defence.4. If other employees got relief then why not these?On behalf of employees argument was given that some other employees working in similar circumstances were allowed to continue in service, while they were retired before time. Therefore discrimination happened with them.Supreme Court rejecting this argument said that work efficiency, working and service record of each employee is assessed separately. Decision to retain an employee in service does not create compulsion to take same decision in case of another employee.Getting relaxation for one employee does not become right for another.5. Benefit cannot be taken by making mistake basis - Correct meaning of Article 14Court citing right of equality given in Article 14 of Constitution clarified that same benefit cannot be demanded by making mistake done in another case as basis.Article 14 is positive concept, it does not recognize Negative Equality. That is, if decision to retain an employee in service was wrong, then another employee also cannot claim to continue in service on same basis.Illegality or omission done in favour of one person cannot become valid basis to give same benefit to another person.Supreme Court said - Out of 14, 9 employees were retained, because their record was different. 5 were removed, because their record showed same bad pattern - continuously C grade, overall evaluation below B, material of bad performance.6. What will be impact of this decision on common employee?What this decision says:After 50 years age or 20 years service government can reviewBad ACR, doubtful integrity, continuously falling performance - can become basis of retirementHearing and inquiry not mandatory, if order is not in form of punishmentOthers got relaxation, this alone will not be basisWhat this decision does not say:It does not say that government can remove anyone, anytime, without reasonReason should be solid, on record, honestIf decision is of malafide, revenge feeling or without any material, then Court can interfereThis is not VRS - Voluntary Retirement, this is compulsory retirement from government's sideThis is not like loan waiver, job waiver, rules of pension will apply separatelyLesson for employees:Don't take ACR lightly - Grading of every year adds up and makes picture of 5 yearsGetting promotion is not final security, performance after promotion is more importantQuestion on Integrity - Integrity - is heaviestLaxity in work in last 10 years of service is most dangerousLesson for government:Screening Committee, written criteria, entire record - All three should be thereIf action is taken selectively arbitrarily, then decision will not stand in CourtUniform criteria will have to be applied on all, even if results are differentEditorial Conclusion - Our appeal in public interestThis decision is not of only 2 employees, it is message for entire government system.Government should remember this -This power is broom of cleaning, not weapon of revenge. Its use should be on basis of honesty and record, only then it is public interest.Employee should understand this -Government job is not birthright. It is contract of service of public. Even after serving for 50 years, if there is continuous decline in work, integrity and work capacity, then government has right to send you home respectfully, with pension.Supreme Court has made balance -Neither has given freedom to remove employee arbitrarily, nor has given compulsion to carry inefficient employee forcibly.Efficiency is real security, not post.

Break on pay fixation in Punjab for now - After High Court decision, Finance Department says, do not take any action till government instructions come

Parivahan Vishesh News

Decision of 24 August 2026 in Kamaldeep Kaur case, letter of Finance Department on 13 November 2026 - If fixation done in hurry, there will be mistake

Report: Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra - Law / Janahit Desk Chandigarh.

Finance Department has issued an important letter regarding pay fixation of Punjab Government employees. It has been clearly said in this letter that in compliance of High Court decision, action of pay fixation should not be done till next instructions of government come. This letter is for all those departments, which were preparing to do pay fixation at their own level after High Court decision. Finance Department has said - matter is still under active consideration of government, so do not hasten.

Main Facts - At a Glance

Department issuing letter: Punjab Government, Finance Department, Finance Personnel-1 Branch

Letter number: No. FD-FP-10CC(CWP)/193/2026-3FP1/ 49Date of letter: 13 November 2026, Chandigarh

Sent to whom: All Special Chief Secretaries, Additional Chief Secretaries, Financial Commissioners, Principal Secretaries and Administrative Secretaries, Punjab Government

Signature: Jaswinder Singh, Deputy Secretary, FinanceHigh Court case: Civil Writ Petition No. 25346 of 2026, Kamaldeep Kaur and others vs State of Punjab and others, along with other connected casesHigh Court: Punjab and Haryana High Cour

tDate of decision: 24 August 2026Subject: Instructions for pay fixation in compliance of High Court decision

1. What is written in letter? - Full truth, word-to-word meaning Finance Department has said 3 things clearly in letter:1. High Court has given decision Hon'ble Punjab and Haryana High Court has disposed of Kamaldeep Kaur and others vs State of Punjab and others, Civil Writ Petition No. 25346 of 2026, along with other connected cases, by decision of 24 August 2026.

2. Proposals / questions are coming from departments Proposals / questions are being received from various administrative departments regarding methodology of pay fixation as per this decision. That is, every department is asking - How should we do fixation? With which formula? From which date?

3. No action now, wait for government instructions

Since matter is linked with Policy Decision and detailed examination is needed to ensure correct compliance of High Court instructions, therefore it is requested that further action of pay fixation in such cases should be done only as per instructions to be issued by government, because matter is still under active consideration of government.

Meaning is clear - Fixation will not happen now, first government will issue uniform policy / instructions, then all departments will take action accordingly.

2. What does this letter mean? - Understand 5 things

1. This is not refusal to implement decision This letter is not to stop or postpone High Court decision. It is only saying that different departments should not do fixation in their own way.

2. Uniform formula will be made If every department does fixation as per its own wish, then salary of employees of same case will become different. Later again cases will happen. Therefore Finance Department will first decide uniform methodology.

3. It is policy decision, not just calculation It is clearly written in letter - Matter involves policy decision. That is, it is not just addition-subtraction, but to decide on whom decision will be applicable, from which date it will be applicable, whether arrears will be given or not, what will be impact on pension.

4. Departments have been stopped from hastening Many departments had sent proposals. Finance Department has put stop on them and said - Don't issue orders at your level now.

5. Employees will have to wait now Employees who are thinking that salary will immediately increase after letter of 13 November, they have to understand that this letter is not order to increase salary, this is order to systematize process of increasing salary.

3. What does this letter not mean? - Clear 4 big misunderstandings

Misunderstanding 1: Government refused to accept High Court decision

Truth: It is not written like that. It is said in letter - Decision will be implemented, but as per government's instructions.

Misunderstanding 2: Pay fixation has been cancelled

Truth: Pay fixation has not been cancelled, it has been postponed / controlled. Till uniform instructions do not come, no department will do fixation separately.

Misunderstanding 3: Everyone will get same benefit

Truth: This letter does not say that all employees will get benefit. Who will get benefit, will be decided by scope of High Court decision and government's instructions. Who were petitioners in Kamaldeep Kaur case, what was their category, it will be clear only after seeing full copy of decision.

Misunderstanding 4: Arrears will come in account tomorrow itself

Truth: There is no mention of arrears, date, amount in letter. Therefore no date of arrears comes out from this letter.

If any agent, union leader or social media post says that after this letter your salary has increased this much, arrears will be this much, then understand he is making estimate, not showing government order.4. What will happen now? - Full process

Step 1 - Examination by Finance Department:

Finance Department will examine full copy of High Court decision, proposals of departments and financial impact.

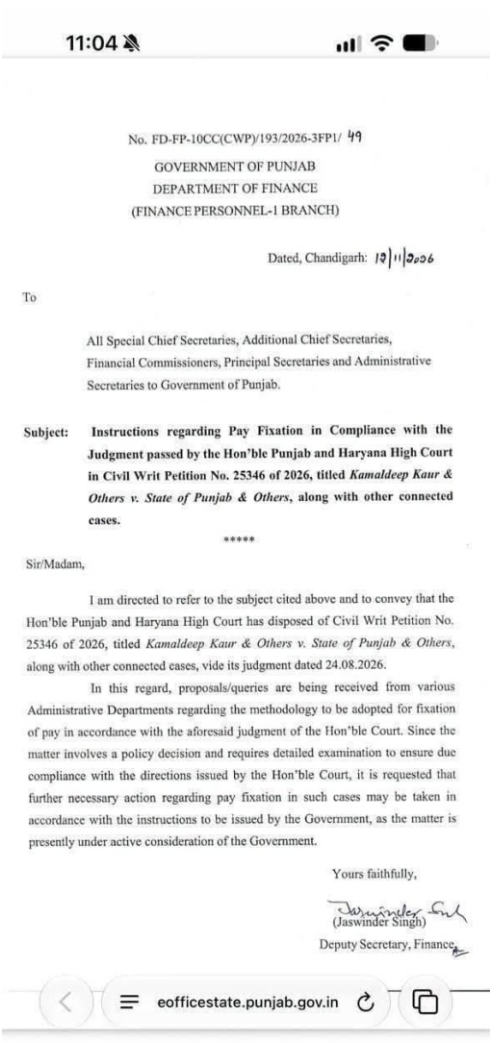

Step 2 - Policy Decision: Government will decide - What will be formula of fixation, from which date it will be applicable, on which posts / categories it will be applicable.

Step 3 - Uniform instructions will be issued: Finance Department will issue uniform instructions / circular for all departments. Only after that departments will be able to do fixation.

Step 4 - Action at department level: Administrative departments, DDO / Treasury office will do pay fixation of individual employees as per that instruction.

Step 5 - Audit / Examination: If wrong fixation happened then recovery can also happen later. Therefore correct formula is necessary from beginning.5. What to do, what not to do for employees? - Advice in public interest

What to do:
Ask in writing from your department's Administrative Secretary / DDO - Have new instructions of government come?

Keep your service record, appointment letter, salary slip and copy of High Court decision safely

Take official information from your department's association / union

Wait for next letter / instructions of Finance Department

What not to do:Don't demand salary increase from anyone showing this letter, this is not letter to increase salary

Don't give money to any agent in name of getting fixation done

Don't trust fake calculation letters getting viral on social media

Don't get wrong fixation done by pressurizing DDO at your level, recovery can happen later

One important thing:If mistake happens in pay fixation then not benefit, there will be trouble. On taking more salary, later recovery of arrears and even cut in pension can happen. Therefore waiting for correct instructions is safest way.6. Message for departments also - Why did Finance Department stop? Finance Department has sent letter to all Special Chief Secretaries, Additional Chief Secretaries, Financial Commissioners, Principal Secretaries and Administrative Secretaries. Its meaning is - This order is not only for one department, it is for entire Punjab.

If any department does fixation at its own level even after this letter, then it will be considered violation of Finance Department's instructions.

Therefore departments should:Send proposals received to Finance DepartmentNot issue any new fixation order at their levelGive correct information to employees, don't spread confusion

Editorial Conclusion - Our appeal in public interest This letter is small, but its message is big.Appeal to government -There should be no delay in implementing High Court decision. Uniform, clear and written instructions should be issued as soon as possible, so that employees do not remain in confusion and departments also do not make speculations.

Appeal to departments -Don't give double blow to employees by doing fixation with your own formulas. Once wrong fixation happens, burden of recovery will fall on employee.

Appeal to employees -Keep patience. This letter is not to stop your right, it is to get your right in correct way, in uniform way.

High Court has given decision, Finance Department has systematized process, now wait for final instructions of government.

Signal of political farewell even before 2029! Sarada Prasad Nayak's announcement triggers new debate in Rourkela politics

Parivahan Vishesh News

Announcement of not contesting election from open stage - just a personal decision or a sign of changing political equations? Questions started rising on MLA's political innings amid decreasing public contact, search for successor and incomplete questions of development

Report: Dr. Rajkumar Yadav, Parivahan Vishesh Samachar Patra, Rourkela

Regarding In politics, any leader's announcement of not contesting election is not always a normal announcement. Sometimes it is a personal decision, then sometimes it also becomes a sign of changing political equations, organizational challenges and future uncertainties. The announcement by Rourkela's MLA Sarada Prasad Nayak from open stage of not contesting 2029 assembly election has given birth to such debate in city's political corridors.The question is whether this is preparation for honorable farewell after a long political innings or is there any deep political calculation working behind it? Amid discussions arising continuously regarding public base, organizational credibility and acceptability of leadership, it will not be easy to ignore this announcement considering it as merely a personal decision.In politics, declaring a successor is also not as simple as forwarding someone's name from the stage. If incidents of a potential successor changing political sides come to light, then it raises questions on organizational hold and credibility of leadership. Assurance of support and actual public support are two different political touchstones. In the past fortnight, the person whom he talked about making city MLA from open stage, within next few weeks took an organizational post of some other party, which is no less than a shock.A big question in Rourkela's politics is also of city's development. Public expectations on health services, education, urban amenities, roads, drinking water, drainage and electricity-like basic needs are still not fully satisfied today. Demand for accountability has also been rising on development works of previous regime, alleged irregularities and administrative failures. Political answer to these questions cannot be given only by presenting list of achievements, but their impact will have to be shown on ground.Better coordination between Central and State schemes and effective implementation at local level is also a big need of the city. In coming years, if facts related to pending projects, government expenditure and alleged irregularities come to fore, then their political impact may fall on concerned party and potential candidates.Sarada Prasad Nayak is presently elected MLA from Rourkela from BJD. In such case, his announcement of not contesting election before 2029 can also be considered as an initiative to hand over political legacy. But whether his proposed successor will get equal support of party and public, only future will tell.For now, the topic of discussion in city is not only his not contesting election, but also who will have Rourkela's next political innings in hands. In politics, announcing farewell is easy, but leaving behind credible leadership, strong organization and satisfied public of development behind oneself is the real achievement of any public representative.

The Language We Speak and the Insult of Women: A Reflection of Our Social Mindset

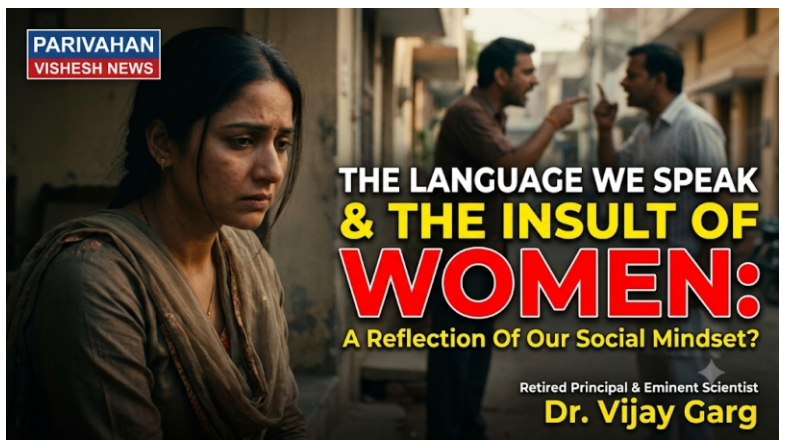

Parivahan Vishesh News

Dr. Vijay Garg

Dr Vijay Garg

Retired Principal

Language is one of the most powerful tools of human communication. It reflects our thoughts, values, upbringing and attitude towards others. The way we speak reveals not only our education but also our level of social awareness and cultural maturity. Unfortunately, in many societies, everyday language still contains expressions that insult, humiliate and undermine the dignity of women. This raises an important question: Can a society truly call itself educated and civilised when its everyday language continues to disrespect women?

One of the most disturbing features of common abusive language is that many insults are directed towards a person's mother, sister or daughter, even when these women have nothing to do with the disagreement. During arguments between two men, women are frequently dragged into the exchange of abusive words. The person being insulted may be a man, but the language used often targets the dignity of an unrelated woman. This reflects a deep-rooted patriarchal mindset in which a woman's identity and dignity are wrongly associated with the honour of male family members.

The irony is that women are respected and worshipped in many cultural and religious traditions, yet insulting expressions involving women are casually used in everyday conversations. We celebrate motherhood, honour daughters and speak proudly about women's contributions to society, but our language often contradicts these values. This contradiction exposes the gap between what we preach and what we practise.

Abusive language is sometimes justified in the name of anger, humour, friendship or informal conversation. Many people argue that such expressions are merely habits and should not be taken seriously. However, repeated use of insulting language gradually makes disrespect appear normal. When people laugh at derogatory remarks about women instead of questioning them, they indirectly encourage a culture of humiliation.

The influence of language on children is particularly significant. Children learn not only from textbooks but also by observing the behaviour of parents, relatives, teachers and other adults. If they regularly hear women being insulted through abusive expressions, they may begin to consider such language acceptable. Gradually, these habits can influence their attitudes towards women and relationships. Therefore, the responsibility for promoting respectful language begins at home and continues through schools and society.

Educational institutions have an important role in addressing this issue. Education should not be limited to academic knowledge, examinations and professional qualifications. It must also develop character, empathy, gender sensitivity and respect for human dignity. Teachers should encourage students to express disagreement without using insulting words. Discussions about equality, mutual respect and responsible communication should become an essential part of value-based education.

Parents also need to understand that children often imitate the language they hear at home. If family members use abusive expressions casually, advising children to speak respectfully becomes ineffective. The best way to teach good language is to practise it consistently.

Social media, films and entertainment platforms also influence everyday communication. Sometimes abusive expressions are presented as signs of humour, confidence or masculinity. Such portrayals can strengthen harmful social attitudes, particularly among young people. Content creators, filmmakers and public personalities should recognise their responsibility in promoting dignified communication.

It is equally important to understand that respecting women does not mean restricting criticism or disagreement. Every individual has the right to express opinions, question decisions and disagree with others. However, criticism should focus on a person's actions and ideas rather than using gender-based insults or dragging family members into personal disputes.

Men, in particular, must recognise that insulting another man's mother, sister or daughter does not demonstrate courage or superiority. True strength lies in controlling one's emotions, communicating responsibly and respecting every individual. Women should not have to depend on their relationship with a man to receive dignity. Every woman deserves respect in her own right.

Changing this culture requires collective effort. We must consciously remove degrading expressions from our vocabulary, discourage abusive behaviour in public places and encourage children to communicate with dignity. Schools, families, media organisations and community leaders must work together to create an environment where respectful language becomes a social norm rather than an exception.

Ultimately, the real measure of a person's education is not merely the degrees displayed on a wall but the respect reflected in everyday behaviour. A society may achieve remarkable scientific and economic progress, but its development remains incomplete if women continue to face humiliation through ordinary language.

Words may be invisible, but their impact is powerful. They can either strengthen relationships or destroy dignity. If we want to build a truly educated, progressive and civilised society, we must begin by changing the way we speak. Respect for women should not remain limited to slogans, speeches and celebrations; it must become an inseparable part of our everyday language and behaviour.

Preparing Children for Life, Not Just Competition: Beyond Marks and Medals, Raising Emotionally Strong Children

Parivahan Vishesh News

Dr. Vijay Garg

In today's increasingly competitive world, childhood is often dominated by examinations, academic rankings, entrance tests, sports competitions, and the pressure to succeed. Parents want their children to excel, teachers strive to improve academic performance, and society frequently measures success through marks, medals, degrees, and prestigious careers. While ambition and achievement are important, an essential question deserves our attention: Are we preparing children only to win competitions, or are we also preparing them to face life?

True education goes beyond textbooks and examination halls. It should develop emotionally balanced, confident, compassionate, and resilient individuals who can handle failure, manage stress, maintain healthy relationships, and make thoughtful decisions. Preparing children for life requires us to focus not only on their intellectual development but also on their emotional well-being.

The Growing Pressure of Competition

Children today face enormous expectations from an early age. Many are expected to perform exceptionally well in examinations, participate in extracurricular activities, master new skills, and compete with their peers. Social media adds another layer of pressure by constantly presenting carefully selected images of success and achievement.

When children begin to believe that their worth depends entirely on their performance, they may develop anxiety, fear of failure, low self-esteem, and feelings of inadequacy. A child who scores fewer marks than expected may feel worthless despite making sincere efforts. Another may hide mistakes because admitting them seems dangerous.

Competition itself is not necessarily harmful. Healthy competition can encourage discipline, determination, and improvement. The problem arises when winning becomes more important than learning and when children feel that love, appreciation, or acceptance depends on their achievements.

Emotional Resilience: A Life Skill

Emotional resilience is the ability to cope with difficulties, recover from setbacks, adapt to change, and continue moving forward despite challenges. It does not mean that children never feel sad, disappointed, frightened, or anxious. Rather, it means they gradually learn to understand these emotions and respond to them constructively.

A resilient child can accept a disappointing result without losing confidence, seek help when facing a problem, and try again after failure. Such a child understands that mistakes are part of learning and that one unsuccessful attempt does not determine the future.

Emotional resilience is not an inborn quality that some children possess while others lack. It can be nurtured through supportive relationships, opportunities to solve problems, age-appropriate responsibilities, and guidance from parents and teachers.

Parents: The First Teachers of Emotional Strength

The family plays a crucial role in shaping a child's emotional development. Children need an environment where they feel loved, respected, and safe enough to express their feelings.

Parents should listen patiently when children talk about their fears, disappointments, and difficulties. Instead of immediately criticising or offering solutions, they can ask questions such as, "What made you feel this way?" or "What do you think we can learn from this experience?"Appreciating effort, persistence, honesty, and improvement is often more helpful than praising children only for high marks. Parents should avoid comparing their children with siblings, classmates, or neighbours. Every child has a different pace of development, individual interests, and unique strengths.

Most importantly, parental love should never appear conditional upon academic performance. Children must know that even when they fail an examination or make a mistake, they remain valued members of the family.

Schools Must Educate the Heart Along with the Mind

Schools are not merely institutions for transferring knowledge; they are environments where children learn to cooperate, communicate, resolve conflicts, and understand different perspectives.

Teachers can strengthen emotional resilience by creating classrooms where students feel comfortable asking questions, acknowledging mistakes, and expressing opinions respectfully. Instead of humiliating students for incorrect answers, teachers should use mistakes as opportunities for learning.

Schools can introduce activities that develop emotional awareness, teamwork, empathy, problem-solving, and conflict resolution. Sports, arts, music, theatre, debates, and community service provide valuable opportunities for children to experience both success and disappointment.

Counselling services and supportive conversations can also help students cope with examination anxiety, bullying, peer pressure, and family expectations. Emotional well-being should be considered an essential part of education rather than an optional activity.

Teach Children How to Handle Failure

Failure is an unavoidable part of life, yet many children are taught to fear it. When adults react harshly to mistakes, children may avoid challenges and choose only those activities in which success seems guaranteed.

Instead, children should learn that failure offers information about what needs to change. A disappointing examination result can reveal gaps in preparation, ineffective study methods, or a need for additional support. Losing a sports match can teach teamwork, patience, and determination.

Adults should help children analyse setbacks without attaching negative labels to their personalities. There is a significant difference between saying, "You are careless," and saying, "Let's identify what went wrong and how you can improve next time."The goal is not to celebrate failure itself but to develop the courage to learn from it.

Balance Achievement with Happiness

Children need time for sleep, physical activity, hobbies, friendships, family conversations, and unstructured play. A timetable filled entirely with tuition classes, homework, coaching, and competitions can leave them mentally exhausted.

Parents should recognise signs of excessive stress, such as persistent irritability, withdrawal, sleep disturbances, loss of interest in favourite activities, or frequent complaints of physical discomfort. Such signs deserve attention rather than being dismissed as laziness or lack of discipline.

A balanced routine supports concentration, creativity, physical health, and emotional stability. Children should be encouraged to discover their interests rather than being pushed towards a single definition of success.

If emotional distress becomes persistent or interferes with daily life, seeking help from a qualified mental health professional can be an important and responsible step.

Practical Steps to Raise Emotionally Strong Children

Parents and teachers can take several simple measures:

1.Listen without judgement: Give children the freedom to express their feelings honestly.

2. Praise effort and progress. Recognise persistence, curiosity, kindness, and improvement, not only results.

3. Encourage independence: Allow children to make age-appropriate decisions and take responsibility for their actions.

4. Normalise mistakes: Explain that errors are opportunities to learn, not reasons for shame.

5. Avoid unhealthy comparisons: Focus on each child's personal growth and individual abilities.

6. Model emotional regulation: Adults should demonstrate how to manage anger, disappointment, and disagreement constructively.

7. Protect time for rest and play: Ensure that achievement does not replace the simple joys of childhood.

8. Promote empathy and kindness: Teach children to respect differences, cooperate with others, and offer help when needed.

These practices do not eliminate every difficulty, but they equip children with skills to navigate challenges more confidently.

Conclusion

The purpose of education is not simply to produce toppers, medal winners, and successful professionals. It is to help young people become responsible, thoughtful, adaptable, and emotionally healthy human beings.

Marks may open doors, and medals may recognise talent, but emotional strength helps individuals face rejection, overcome adversity, maintain relationships, and find meaning in life. A child who learns to manage emotions, respect others, accept failure, and keep trying possesses qualities that remain valuable long after examinations are over.

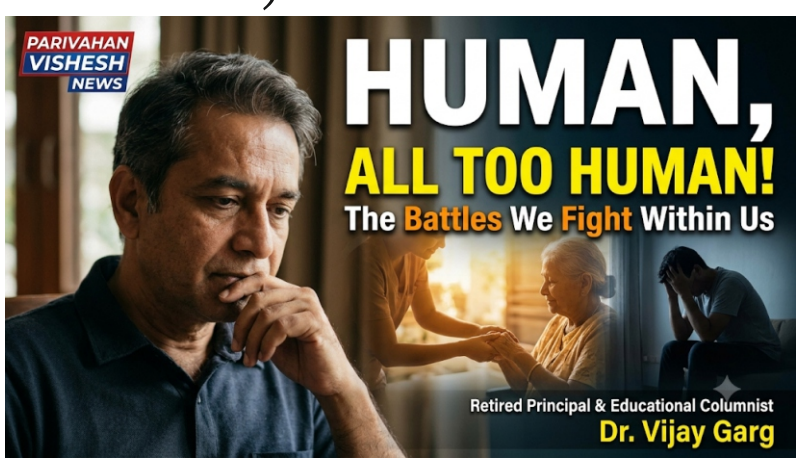

Parents, teachers, and society must therefore redefine success. Instead of asking only how well a child performs, we should also ask whether the child feels secure, develops confidence, treats others kindly, and knows how to cope with difficulties.

Let us prepare children not merely to win competitions but to face life's challenges with courage, compassion, and confidence. Beyond marks and medals, let us nurture strong minds, healthy hearts, and resilient human beings.

Human, All Too Human

Parivahan Vishesh News

Dr. Vijay Garg

Human beings are fascinating creatures. We dream of perfection, speak of honesty, expect loyalty and desire happiness, yet we often struggle with our own weaknesses. We are human, all too human—capable of extraordinary kindness as well as selfishness, great courage as well as fear, and deep love as well as jealousy.

The phrase “Human, All Too Human” reminds us that nobody is perfect. Every individual carries a mixture of strengths, weaknesses, emotions, desires and contradictions. Sometimes we make wise decisions; at other times, we allow anger, pride, greed or fear to control us.

Human nature is full of contradictions. We expect others to understand our feelings but often fail to understand theirs. We want respect but sometimes forget to respect others. We criticize dishonesty while making small compromises with truth in our own lives. We demand forgiveness but hesitate to forgive others.

One of the greatest weaknesses of human beings is ego. It prevents us from accepting mistakes, learning from criticism and appreciating the achievements of others. Similarly, jealousy makes us unhappy with our own progress because we constantly compare ourselves with others.

Yet humanity is not defined only by its weaknesses. Our ability to love, forgive, sacrifice, create, learn and help others makes life meaningful. A kind word can restore someone's confidence, a small act of generosity can change a life, and a sincere apology can repair a broken relationship.

The modern world has made human life more comfortable through science and technology, but it has not necessarily made human beings more compassionate. We are increasingly connected through digital platforms but sometimes emotionally distant from those sitting beside us. Material success is often celebrated more than honesty, simplicity and human values.

The real challenge is not to become perfect but to become better. We must learn to recognize our limitations, accept our mistakes and respect the imperfections of others. Self-awareness, humility and empathy can help us overcome many of our weaknesses.

Perhaps the greatest wisdom lies in understanding that everyone is fighting an invisible battle. Behind every smile, there may be sadness; behind every confident face, there may be insecurity. Therefore, we should be less judgmental and more understanding.

Being human means making mistakes, experiencing emotions, facing failures and continuing to grow. Our imperfections do not make us worthless; they make us human.

After all, we are human, all too human. Our greatness lies not in being flawless, but in constantly striving to become kinder, wiser and more responsible.

Science Beyond Scientists: A Universal Journey of Discovery

Parivahan Vishesh News

Dr. Vijay Garg

Science is one of humanity’s greatest achievements, but it is much bigger than the scientists who contribute to its development. Scientists may discover new facts, develop theories and invent technologies, but science itself belongs to everyone. It is a continuous journey of curiosity, observation, experimentation and learning that extends beyond individuals, institutions and national boundaries.Throughout history, remarkable scientists have transformed our understanding of the universe. Isaac Newton explained the laws of motion and gravity, Albert Einstein revolutionised our understanding of space and time, Marie Curie made pioneering contributions to radioactivity, and C. V. Raman opened new horizons in the study of light. Their achievements continue to inspire generations. However, science does not end with the lifetime or achievements of any scientist. Every discovery becomes a foundation for further investigation.One of the most important characteristics of science is that it is never complete. Scientific knowledge is constantly evolving as new evidence emerges and improved methods of investigation become available. A theory considered convincing today may be modified or replaced tomorrow when stronger evidence is discovered. This willingness to question established ideas makes science different from rigid beliefs. Science does not demand unquestioning acceptance; it encourages people to ask questions, examine evidence and reach logical conclusions.Science is not limited to laboratories, universities or research centres. It is present in our everyday lives. Farmers use scientific knowledge to improve crop production, doctors apply medical research to save lives, engineers use mathematical principles to construct bridges, and teachers employ scientific methods to make learning more effective. Even ordinary activities such as cooking, gardening, travelling and communicating involve scientific principles. In this sense, every individual experiences and benefits from science.Another important aspect of science is its collective nature. No major scientific achievement emerges entirely in isolation. Behind every successful invention or discovery lies the contribution of earlier researchers, technicians, assistants, institutions and countless individuals whose efforts may never receive public recognition. Modern space missions, medical breakthroughs and technological innovations are products of teamwork involving people from different disciplines and countries.The development of artificial intelligence, biotechnology, renewable energy, quantum computing and space exploration demonstrates how scientific knowledge continues to expand. These fields are creating opportunities that were difficult to imagine a few decades ago. Artificial intelligence is helping researchers analyse complex information, biotechnology is opening new possibilities in healthcare and agriculture, and renewable energy technologies are offering alternatives to conventional fossil fuels. Yet these advances also raise important questions about ethics, privacy, employment and environmental responsibility.Science also teaches humility. The more humanity discovers, the more it realises how much remains unknown. We have explored only a small part of the universe, and many mysteries concerning the human brain, consciousness, oceans and origins of life remain unresolved. This uncertainty should not discourage us. Instead, it should strengthen our determination to investigate the unknown.Unfortunately, society sometimes gives excessive importance to individual scientists, awards, titles and personal recognition. Celebrating outstanding researchers is certainly necessary, but science should never become a matter of personal fame or competition alone. Its real purpose is to improve human understanding and contribute to the welfare of society. A scientist's greatness should be measured not merely by awards or publications but also by the positive impact of their work.Scientific thinking is equally important for ordinary citizens. In an age of misinformation, rumours and misleading claims, people must develop the ability to distinguish facts from opinions. Questioning unreliable information, checking evidence and making decisions based on reason are essential qualities of a scientifically aware society. Scientific temper also promotes tolerance because it encourages individuals to accept evidence even when it challenges their existing opinions.Educational institutions have a particularly important responsibility in developing this attitude among young people. Students should not merely memorise scientific facts and formulas for examinations. They must be encouraged to experiment, observe nature, ask questions, participate in projects and develop independent thinking. Education should create future innovators as well as responsible citizens who understand the social and environmental implications of scientific progress.Science is ultimately a shared human heritage. Its language may be mathematical, its methods experimental and its discoveries highly technical, but its benefits should reach every section of society. Access to scientific education, healthcare, clean energy and technological opportunities must not remain limited to privileged communities.The journey of science will continue long after today's celebrated scientists have passed into history. New generations will challenge existing knowledge, discover unexpected possibilities and develop solutions to problems that humanity has not yet encountered. Scientists are important contributors, but science is a much larger and continuing enterprise.Science belongs not to a handful of brilliant minds but to the entire human community. Its greatest achievement is not merely discovering how the world works, but using that knowledge to build a more informed, peaceful, sustainable and prosperous future for everyone

Madhya Pradesh has achieved international leadership in cleanliness, it is a matter of pride.

Parivahan Vishesh News

Harihar Singh Chauhan, Indore

When the 2025-26 National Cleanliness Survey Awards were being distributed in Delhi, Madhya Pradesh held its head high. Madhya Pradesh won nine awards in this Clean City Survey. What could be more remarkable than that?On this achievement, the state's Chief Minister, Dr. Mohan Yadav, said that the nine planets of cleanliness have been strong in all regions—whether Malwa, Satpura, Vindhya, or Chambal. These cities played their part in this endeavor.The initiative, launched by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Gandhi Jayanti, October 2, 2014, has proven to be a highly effective campaign. Today, its leader, Indore, a leader in cleanliness, has consistently led Madhya Pradesh forward, establishing its achievements. This year, nine cities from the state received awards.This journey towards cleanliness has been very inspiring, even a Union Minister acknowledges it. Indore's success has enhanced our prestige and respect. Indore had this ambition for the ninth time, but it didn't achieve the expected success. However, Depalpur became a partner – along with Indore, Depalpur increased our pride.When efforts were made in small villages and towns to maintain cleanliness, driveways, collect garbage, and manage livestock, they yielded results, and the village's awareness made Depalpur famous. The award received by the city council president, Anita Puri Goswami, further enhanced Indore's brilliance. A friendly, helpful Indore, using its experience, freed Depalpur from stray animals. A cowshed was built for the cattle and they were housed there.Along with this, many cities like Ujjain, Dewas, Jabalpur, Sagar, Budhni, Gwalior, Rewa etc. added to the glory of the strong cleanliness mission of Madhya Pradesh.The honest efforts of the sanitation workers paid off, and the meaningful responsibility of the people connected themselves to this mission. Nine cities in Madhya Pradesh achieved various national achievements by fulfilling their responsibilities in this mission, and now, taking ten steps forward, they have geared up from today.Because Madhya Pradesh has the power. In this race of victory and defeat, we have been the mastermind. We have a distinct identity across the country. Now, all states look to Indore for this cleanliness campaign. We offer honest advice to everyone with a friendly spirit, enabling those cities to also participate in the mission.God resides in cleanliness. Mahatma Gandhi, the Father of the Nation, said that internal and external cleanliness strengthens the inner purity of mind and thoughts. With these ideals in mind, the Government of India launched the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, which is yielding impressive results.It is a good thing to congratulate the people of the state for these nine successes of Madhya Pradesh.

Tata will pay the remaining amount of Rs 55.9425 crore for the period before 1998.

Kartik Kumar Parichha, State Head - Jharkhand

Tata Nagar (Jamshedpur) — A nearly three-decade-long water bill dispute between Tata Steel and the Jharkhand government has been resolved. Under an agreement reached in the Jharkhand High Court, Tata Steel will pay the full amount of 559.425 billion) for the period prior to July 1, 1998, in the current financial year 2026-27. The company has agreed to pay this amount as soon as possible. Following the agreement, the High Court disposed of the case on November 5, 2026.This case is CWJC No. 3819/1993 (R). Tata Iron and Steel Company Limited and its shareholder, Arun Narayan Singh, filed a petition against the Bihar government, the Secretary of the Irrigation Department, and the Administrator of the Subarnarekha Multipurpose Project. Following the formation of the state of Jharkhand, the state government became a party to the case.The case was heard by a division bench of High Court Chief Justice MS Sonak and Justice Manoj Prasad. During the hearing, lawyers for both parties told the court that the dispute had been resolved through compromise and the petition could be settled in accordance with the terms of the compromise.On behalf of the state government, an affidavit was submitted to the court by Executive Engineer Sanjay Kumar Singh. He is posted at Subarnarekha Dam Division No. 2, Chandil. According to the affidavit, following the High Court's direction, the Water Resources Department constituted an arbitration committee on September 28, 2026. Tata Steel also nominated its representatives to the committee on October 12, 2026.On October 15, 2026, the committee met at Jal Bhawan in Ranchi to discuss outstanding water charges for the period prior to July 1, 1998. The meeting revealed that other disputes related to water charges from July 1, 1998, to March 31, 2023, had already been resolved through the High Court's decision of June 28, 2024.According to the affidavit, in order to amicably resolve the long-standing dispute, Tata Steel offered to pay the entire demand amount of 559.425 crore (559.425 crore. The company agreed to pay this amount as early as possible during the current financial year 2026-27. Following this, both parties agreed to settle all disputes and issues related to CWJC No. 3819/1993.The High Court, upon a joint request from both parties, finally discharged the petition in accordance with the terms of the agreement. The court made no order regarding costs. It also discharged any interim applications pending in the case.

A woman selling pots in Seraikela's Jamron was brutally murdered; the killer was arrested.

Parivahan Vishesh News

Kartik Kumar Parichha, State Head - Jharkhand

An incident has shocked the entire village of Jambro, located in the Kuchai police station area of Ranchi district, a remote and backward area. On Tuesday night, a 47-year-old tribal woman was allegedly brutally murdered with a sharp-edged weapon. The horror of this incident has shocked everyone, as the accused is accused of inhumanely brutalizing the woman after the murder. Station in-charge Ravindra Munda stated that the accused had been sent to jail as of the time of writing this news.According to reports, a local hockey competition was held in Jambro village on Tuesday evening. To support her family, the woman had set up a stall selling the traditional drink "Hadia." It is alleged that 54-year-old Palace Munda, a resident of the village, drank the Hadiya and then forcibly abducted her and took her to his home.Meanwhile, when the woman did not return home late at night, her husband became worried and went in search of her. Around 12 o'clock in the night, her mutilated body was discovered near their home. The family was devastated by this heartbreaking scene. The deceased woman's husband alleged that Palace Munda had brutally treated the body after the murder.As news of the incident spread, anger swept through the village. Acting swiftly, the villagers apprehended the accused, Palace Munda, and handed him over to the Kuchai police station. Acting swiftly, the police arrested the accused and sent him to jail in judicial custody. Police officials say that due to the seriousness of the case, a thorough investigation is being conducted from all angles.This heinous crime has been widely condemned. Vishnu Banra, National President of the Adivasi Kolhan Seva, expressed deep sorrow and demanded that the police prosecute the accused in a fast-track court and ensure that he receives a harsh punishment.Meanwhile, confirming the incident, Kuchai Police Station in-charge Ravindra Singh Munda stated that the accused has been arrested by the Dalbhanga OP police and sent to jail. The knife and axe used in the murder were recovered from the accused. Regarding the allegations of murder and cooking the body parts, the station in-charge stated that the accused attempted to cook some of the body parts by removing the flesh and placing it in a pan, which the police are investigating to confirm.

Journalists in Hazaribagh staged a sit-in protest and received overwhelming public support.

Parivahan Vishesh News

The public representatives unanimously said that the attack on the fourth pillar will not be tolerated at all.
Kartik Kumar Parichha State Head -Jharkhand

Ranchi, April 25 (IANS) Journalists and local residents of Hazaribagh staged a day-long protest at the Press Club against the rude behavior of municipal officials toward journalists. Public representatives and various political parties supported the protest.The people of Hazaribagh are expressing anger over the rude behavior of journalists at the Hazaribagh Press Club. The one-day protest called by the journalists received support from various sections of society. Two days ago, Om Prakash Gupta, the Municipal Commissioner of the Hazaribagh Municipal Corporation, was accused of misbehaving at the Press Club premises.Journalists are outraged by the comments made against club president Murari Singh. A corporation official demanded documents related to the club, using abusive language. Furthermore, the corporation official even called the police to the club premises. Journalists are deeply angered by this. They say that if the documents should have been demanded, then it is inappropriate to suddenly demand them after 6:00 pm, as per the rules. The manner in which they were asked for the documents was also incorrect.In fact, last Tuesday, journalists published a report about the Hazaribagh Municipal Corporation's working style, questioning the tender process for the stone dust dumping ceremony for the Chhath festival. The journalists raised several important public interest questions regarding the tender process and the deadline.It is alleged that the Municipal Commissioner, angered by this news, went to the Hazaribagh Press Club and behaved rudely with journalists. Following this incident, widespread anger has been seen among journalists, as well as ordinary citizens and public representatives.During this protest, members of all political and social groups unanimously stated that such treatment of journalism, the fourth pillar of democracy, is unacceptable under any circumstances. Attempts to suppress and intimidate journalists are unfortunate for the democratic system. Journalists have a constitutional and social responsibility to raise public issues and question the functioning of government departments. Consequently, the alleged mistreatment of journalists is highly condemnable. Following the protest, a memorandum was submitted to the Hazaribagh Deputy Commissioner.

TRANSPORT SECTOR TO HOLD MASSIVE PROTEST AGAINST DELHI GOVERNMENT ON 17 NOVEMBER

Thousands of Taxi and Bus Operators, Owners and Drivers to March to Delhi Secretariat
New Delhi | 12 November 2026

The Delhi Taxi & Tourist Transporter Association (Regd.) has announced a massive protest at the Delhi Secretariat on 17 November 2026 against the transport policies of the Delhi Government, which the association says are severely affecting the livelihood of transport operators and drivers.

Association President Mr. Sanjay Samrat stated that the permanent ban on BS-IV diesel buses, the four-month restriction on BS-IV diesel taxis, hefty traffic challans, the excessive financial burden imposed in the name of panic buttons and Vehicle Location Tracking Devices (VLTD), and the forced transition towards electric vehicles have pushed the transport industry into a deep financial crisis.

He further stated that thousands of vehicle owners and lakhs of drivers are facing the threat of unemployment due to these policies. Despite repeated requests for an appointment with the Hon'ble Chief Minister, the association has yet to receive a satisfactory response to its concerns.

Mr. Samrat warned that the protest scheduled for 17 November is not merely a struggle of taxi and bus operators; it is a fight to safeguard the livelihoods of lakhs of families dependent on the transport industry.

He appealed to all taxi operators, bus owners, tourist vehicle operators, transporters and drivers across Delhi-NCR to unite and participate in large numbers at the Delhi Secretariat to make this protest a success.

Fake Green Gas Meter Update APK Scam: A New Face of Utility-Themed Cyber Fraud

Parivahan Vishesh News

The recent arrest of a 22-year-old resident of Dhanbad, Jharkhand, has highlighted a growing cyber threat in which fraudsters exploit the trust that consumers place in gas, electricity, water, and other utility service providers.

The accused is alleged to have operated a cyber fraud network using a fake "Green Gas Meter Update" application, resulting in a financial loss of approximately 32 lakh to a resident of Lucknow.

Case OverviewThe investigation revealed that the accused allegedly arranged for the collection of household-level information relating to Green Gas consumers and used this data to send deceptive WhatsApp messages while impersonating the gas service provider.Consumers were convinced that their gas meters required an urgent update and were instructed to install an Android Package Kit (APK) file for the purpose.As soon as the victim installed the APK file, cybercriminals allegedly gained unauthorized access to the victim's mobile phone and banking-related information, which was subsequently used to carry out fraudulent financial transactions.

The case came to light when a consumer reported receiving a WhatsApp message containing an APK file purportedly meant for a Green Gas meter update. After installing the application, approximately 32 lakh was allegedly siphoned from the victim's bank account. Subsequently, a case was registered, and an investigation was initiated by the Cyber Crime Police.During the arrest, police recovered Screen recording permissions Notification access Contacts access SMS reading permissions Accessibility Services access High-Risk Sources• WhatsApp attachments• Telegram files• SMS downloads links• Email attachments from unknown senders• APK files sent directly by individualsVerify the Developer NameBefore installing any application:• Open the app page on the Google Play Store.• Check the developer's name.• Compare the developer information with the details available on the organization's official website.A legitimate utility application is generally published by the utility service provider itself or by its authorized technology partner.Review App Permissions Before installation, carefully examine the permissions requested by the application.Warning Signs Safe Sources• Google Play Store• Apple App Store• Official and verified website of the organization Requests for OTPs, banking details, UPI PINs, or remote-access permissions.How to Verify an App's Source Spelling or grammatical errors. Requests to install APK files. Threats of immediate service disconnection. Never share OTPs, UPI PINs, banking passwords, or remote-access permissions with unknown persons.How to Verify Whether an Update Request Is Genuine1. Verify Through Official Channels• Contact customer care using the number printed on the service bill.• Use only the contact numbers available on the official website or mobile application.• Confirm whether any update campaign is in progress.2. Check the Official Website or Mobile Application• Visit the service provider's website independently.• Log in to your account and review official notifications.• Verify whether the update request has been publicly announced.3. Watch for Red FlagsBe cautious if the message contains: Report suspicious messages to the National Cyber Helpline 1930 or the Cyber Crime Portal. Disable the "Install from Unknown Sources" option on Android devices. Verify any meter update, KYC update, or service notification directly with the utility provider through official channels. Never install APK files received through WhatsApp, SMS, Telegram, email, or social media. 1.23 lakh in cash, two mobile phones, six ATM cards, four payment bank kits, and eleven SIM cards. Investigators are examining the seized materials to identify additional suspects and trace the proceeds of crime.Mode of TransmissionIn this cyber fraud, the malicious APK file was primarily distributed through WhatsApp messages.The fraudsters allegedly used consumer data to send personalized messages that appeared to be official communications from the gas service provider.Consumers were informed that their gas meter required an immediate update and were instructed to install the attached APK file to avoid disruption of services.Modus Operandi1. Fraudsters obtained or collected data relating to Green Gas consumers.2. Consumers received WhatsApp messages impersonating the gas service provider.3. The message contained a malicious APK file labelled as a "Green Gas Meter Update" application.4. Once installed, the APK allegedly gained unauthorized access to the victim's device and banking-related information.5. The stolen information was then used to execute fraudulent financial transactions.Key Cybersecurity LessonsThis case demonstrates how cybercriminals increasingly combine:• Targeted consumer data• Social engineering• Distribution of malicious APK files through WhatsAppBy using these methods, criminals exploit public trust and steal sensitive information, including mobile banking credentials. Because these messages appear personalized and relevant, victims are more likely to trust and act upon them.Keep Yourself CybersafeFollow these essential precautions: Device Administrator privilegesA genuine utility billing or meter management application generally does not require access to banking messages, Accessibility Services, or screen recording functions.Check Reviews and Download StatisticsPay attention to:• Number of downloads• User ratings• User reviews• App history• Complaints relating to fraud or malwareApplications with very few downloads, poor ratings, or suspicious reviews should be treated with caution.Scan APK FilesIf an APK file must be examined:• Scan it using reputable mobile security software.• Use malware analysis platforms such as VirusTotal where appropriate.• Never install an APK merely because it appears legitimate.Verify the Digital SignatureFor investigators and technical users:• Compare the APK's signing certificate with that of previous legitimate versions.• Verify certificate continuity.• Any mismatch or alteration in the digital signature may indicate tampering or impersonation.No genuine gas, electricity, water, or other utility service provider will ask you to install an APK file sent through WhatsApp or SMS.Always verify updates through official websites, authorized app stores, or customer care numbers. If in doubt, do not install the APK and immediately report the matter through Cyber Helpline 1930.

Teachers of Bihar Founder Shiv Kumar Visits Muzaffarpur; Holds an Interactive Session with Team Members

Muzaffarpur, Bihar: Shiv Kumar, Founder of Teachers of Bihar (ToB), Bihar's largest Professional Learning Community, who has been working towards bringing teachers across the state together on a common platform to drive positive educational change, visited Muzaffarpur along with his wife, Swati Kumari. On this occasion, a special get-together was organised at the residence of Shivendra Prakash Suman, Technical Team Leader of Teachers of Bihar and an engineer by profession.Members associated with various teams of the Professional Learning Community attended the gathering and extended a warm welcome to the guests by presenting a bouquet, traditional angavastram, diary, pen and a sandalwood sapling. The occasion provided an opportunity for meaningful interaction, exchange of ideas and strengthening bonds among colleagues.The gathering went beyond a formal meeting, featuring heartfelt discussions on collective efforts to improve the quality of education in Bihar, teachers' creative potential, educational innovations and the various initiatives undertaken by the organisation. It also offered an opportunity for colleagues working towards a common mission for a long time to meet, share experiences and exchange perspectives.Members Representing Various Teams and ResponsibilitiesMembers representing different teams and initiatives of Teachers of Bihar were present on the occasion. They included Keshav Kumar (State Team Coordinator), Amitesh Kumar (Writers Team Lead), Pappu Kumar Pankaj (Educational Initiative Program Lead), Abhishek Kumar (Coordinator, Prakriti Prahari Campaign), Kanishka Muskan (Social Media Team Lead), Aastha Deepali (Publication Team Lead), Kumar Abhishek (Event Lead) and Neeraj Kumar (District Mentor, Muzaffarpur).All the members warmly welcomed Founder Shiv Kumar and Swati Kumari. During the interaction, they also shared their experiences, discussed the responsibilities they have been shouldering in different organisational activities and exchanged ideas on making collective efforts more effective in the future.A Unique Blend of Visionary Leadership and Technical ExpertiseOne of the notable aspects of the gathering was the role of its host, Shivendra Prakash Suman, who has been playing a significant part in strengthening the technical infrastructure of Teachers of Bihar.An engineer by profession, Shivendra Prakash Suman specialises in web development and software development. He has experience in providing technical services to major government, national and international institutions. Currently, as the Technical Team Leader of Teachers of Bihar, he is contributing to several important areas, including providing technical support to the community's social media platforms, developing and managing its website, and systematically documenting the organisation's activities and achievements through digital platforms.What makes his contribution particularly noteworthy is his selfless dedication of professional expertise, time and effort towards improving the educational landscape of Bihar. The level of technical services for which large institutions often have to allocate substantial financial resources is being made available by him to advance the educational objectives of this learning community through his professional skills and voluntary commitment.Meanwhile, the visionary thinking of Teachers of Bihar Founder Shiv Kumar laid the foundation for bringing teachers across Bihar together on a common platform. Established on 20 January 2019, the organisation has been working with the objectives of recognising teachers' talent, encouraging innovations taking place in schools and bringing positive changes to Bihar's education system.The presence of Santosh Kumar Rana alongside Shiv Kumar was also significant on this occasion. He is currently serving as a Lecturer at the State Council of Educational Research and Training (SCERT), Patna. He has contributed to various educational activities, including art-related academic initiatives. His guidance and support to Teachers of Bihar from time to time have been valuable to the organisation.A Memorable Gathering Celebrating Personal Bonds and a Shared MissionAnother beautiful aspect of the gathering was the gracious presence of family members of prominent personalities associated with the Teachers of Bihar learning community. Founder Shiv Kumar attended the occasion with his wife, Swati Kumari. The host, Shivendra Prakash Suman, was accompanied by his wife, Rashmi Jaiswal. The presence of Santosh Kumar Rana further added to the significance of this warm get-together.The participation of family members transformed the occasion from a purely organisational meeting into a memorable celebration of mutual affection, personal relationships and family bonding. It reflected the warmth and togetherness that make the Teachers of Bihar community more than just a professional platform.On the occasion, Keshav Kumar, State Team Coordinator of Teachers of Bihar, described the gathering as a memorable milestone in the journey of the organisation. He said that the true strength of a Professional Learning Community lies in the collective efforts of visionary leadership, technical support, experienced guidance and dedicated colleagues performing diverse responsibilities.He further observed that while Shiv Kumar envisioned bringing the teachers of Bihar together on a common platform, technical experts like Shivendra Prakash Suman have played an important role in taking that vision forward through their professional expertise and dedication.The information was jointly shared by Ranjesh Kumar, State Spokesperson, and Mrityunjay Kumar, State Media Coordinator, Teachers of Bihar.

Today Is a Struggle, Tomorrow It Will Be History!

Parivahan Vishesh News

Dr. Vikram Chaurasia

The stories of those who reach their destinations inspire us, but the courage of those who struggle along the way is equally worthy of admiration.

There is a thought I once came across that continues to touch my heart: "Destiny puts those on the throne who are first made to pass through the conspiracies of the Lakshagriha, the struggles of exile, and the solitude of the period of anonymity."

This episode from the Mahabharata reveals a profound truth about life. The Pandavas did not attain power and authority easily. Despite conspiracies, humiliation, and numerous trials, they never lost their patience or courage. Their lives teach us that the path to great achievements often passes through difficult circumstances.

Struggle Is the True Test of CharacterA seed must remain buried in the darkness of the soil before it can germinate and eventually grow into a mighty tree. Human life follows a similar course. Difficulties give us opportunities to discover our abilities, failures provide valuable experience, and challenges strengthen our self-confidence. Those who have the courage to rise again after falling are the ones who keep moving towards their goals.Great Personalities Also Chose Difficult PathsDr. B. R. Ambedkar, amid social discrimination, lit the torch of education and equality, giving society a new direction. Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam, rising from humble circumstances and limited resources, established himself in the field of science and eventually became the President of India. Savitribai Phule continued her mission of promoting women's education despite strong social opposition. Nelson Mandela, even after spending years in prison, never abandoned his commitment to justice and equality.The message conveyed by these remarkable lives is clear: A person's identity is not determined by circumstances, but by the actions and efforts made in the face of those circumstances.Everyone Has a Different Destination and TimelineThroughout my life, I have seen many people who began their journeys with almost similar circumstances and aspirations. Today, several of them have achieved success in different fields through their hard work and talent, while some are still struggling to find their way towards their goals.

However, success in life should not be judged merely by how quickly someone reaches their destination. Every individual has different circumstances, opportunities, and life journeys. Being genuinely happy about someone else's achievements while encouraging those who are still struggling is the true reflection of a positive mindset.My own life has also witnessed several phases of struggle and social commitment. Since my school days, I have had a strong desire to connect underprivileged and needy children with education and bring positive changes to their lives. This very aspiration inspired me to choose the path of service.My journey, from Bhabua to Kanpur, Patna, and Prayagraj, and eventually to the University of Delhi, has given me countless experiences. There were challenges along the way, but my motivation to do something meaningful for underprivileged and disadvantaged children never diminished.This journey taught me that bringing about change does not always require enormous resources. Sensitivity, sincere efforts, and strong determination can also become the foundation of meaningful transformation.Believe in Your StruggleFacing adverse circumstances in life is not a sign of defeat. Sometimes, these very phases bring out the hidden potential within us. Therefore, do not consider yourself inferior when you see others succeeding, and do not lose hope because of your present difficulties. Remain committed to your goals and continue moving forward with honesty and determination.Remember, someone else's present may be the destination you aspire to reach, while your present journey may become an inspiration for someone else. Therefore, success should leave no room for arrogance, and struggle should never lead to despair.Time changes, circumstances evolve, and new doors of opportunity open for those who continue to make sincere efforts.If today is a time of struggle, keep your courage alive. For it is possible that the very struggle you are going through today may become your identity tomorrow, and your life story may one day inspire someone else to keep moving forward.
